GERARD B. COTE, VERDON, P. Q.
Winner of Marathon

Gerald B. Cote of Verdon, Quebec, won the 44th annual B. A. A. marathon here today.

Cote forged ahead at Coolidge corner. Up to that point Robert Rankin of Preston, Canada., had led the pack of 165 starters.

Rankin led at Lake st., with Kelley and Cote second and third. Cote was almost 100 yards behind Rankin, whose time here was 1 hour, 58 minutes, 13 seconds, a minute better than Brown's last year.

BRITISH ROUT NAZIS IN NORWAY BATTLE

STOCKHOLM, April 19 (INS)—
Bitter fighting between British and German troops in Norway in which the Nazis were driven back was reported by the newspaper Dagen Nyheter today.

Dispatches from the war zone, citing reports from the German-occupied Trondheim region, said the engagement occurred near Namsos, north of Trondheim.

(Editor's Note: An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Stockholm stated that the Germans suffered heavy casualties in the fighting, and also were driven back in an attempt to reach Tromsø from Narvik.)

The Swedish radio reported German military transport planes were continuing to fly troops over Swedish territory en route to Norway, according to the Exchange Telegraph News Agency in London.

The Germans were forced to retreat under the blows of the British assault, the reports stated.

It is understood, the Dagens Nyheter added, that the German troops had been transported to the Namsos area by airplane from the Vaernes airport near Trondheim, strategic Norwegian port where the Germans are said to be preparing for a British attack.

(Editor's Note: A British radio broadcast this morning picked up by the Columbia Broadcasting System said the Germans were preparing for an allied attack on Trondheim.)

"Bridges around the town have been mined, the civilian population has been evacuated and houses have been transformed into machine gun nests," the broadcaster said.

(NBC picked up a Berlin broadcast stating the German high command admitted stiff resistance by Norwegian troops defending the area around Oslofjord.)

(Advices from London said there was no official confirmation of reports that British troops had landed in the Bodo area of the Norwegian coast and captured the village of Loding, the islands of Landegode and the port of Valvic. These reports also claimed the British had launched an attack on Bodo itself.)

EXPECT MAJOR BATTLE

Other reports to Stockholm indicated that a major battle is expected in the Elverum-Hamar area northeast of Oslo, the German-held Norwegian capital.

The Germans already are advancing steadily northward and skirmishes have occurred within 20 miles of Elverum, where Norwegian forces are expected to make a stand, according to these advices.

This battle may prove to be the first major engagement of the war between German and Norwegian forces.

Norwegian outpost forces were reported fighting bravely against the Germans, but could do little against the automatic weapons and low-flying machine gunning

Japs Still Firm On Indies View

TOKYO, April 19 (AP)—The Japanese foreign office today declared removal of the "hypothetical basis"—the possibility of the Netherlands being invaded—was the only means for alleviating Japan's apprehension about maintaining the status quo in the Netherlands East Indies.

Yakichiro Suma, the foreign office spokesman, declared "superfluous" and further discussion of Secretary Hull's statement that the United States would be disturbed by any change in the Netherlands East Indies' status.

DUTCH WARN THEY'LL FIGHT ANY EFFORT AT PROTECTION

THE HAGUE, April 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Derek Jan de Geer declared in a broadcast today that the Netherlands would resist with arms any attempt of foreign powers to extend protective help to the lowland country and announced martial law would be declared for all of Holland.

Large areas of The Netherlands already are under martial law and it was expected that a royal decree would be issued shortly making it effective throughout the country, in line with the premier's announcement.

De Geer's speech was broadcast to Holland's colonial possessions in the East and West Indies, as well as the homeland.

He said: "Above all else, in these times, it must be our first duty to safeguard our neutrality. We have received assurances from both belligerents that they would safeguard this neutrality of ours. We trust that this assurance can be relied upon. "But in any case we wish to make it perfectly clear that we ourselves are perfectly able as well as determined to protect our neutrality. "I wish to take this occasion to point out that Holland, at any rate, does not ask for, and is unwilling to accept, the aid or

500,000 Line Course As 165 Run Marathon

By BILL GRIMES

A field of 165 runners scrambled across the starting line at noon today in the 44th running of the B. A. A. Marathon, 30 less than the number entered.

Six former winners of the tortuous grind were among the starters as the gun was fired in Hopkinton on the exact stroke of noon.

A bright sun took most of the chill from the air, but left the temperature in the 50's, while what little breeze there was acted as a tail wind for the runners.

Police estimated the course was lined by around 500,000 spectators. With fame and an olive leaf garland waiting 26 miles and 385 yards away, the runners stepped out briskly at the start.

Record-holder Ellison "Tarzan" Brown, Narragansett Indian from Westerly, R. I., and seven-time winner Clarence DeMar, Keene, N. H., were included in the big pack.

"Tarzan" and Leslie Pawson, Pawtucket, R. I., alderman, both two-time winners of the Patriots' Day classic, were co-favorites, each with a chance to enter Marathon fame by becoming the first since DeMar to chalk up a third victory.

The temperature was 58 degrees and skies were clear. A northeast cross wind was blowing which struck the backs of the runners at Ashland, at the base of the Hopkinton hills.

CANADIANS IN LEAD

At Ashland, teammates Cote and Evans of the Marathon A. C., Verdun, P. Q., were running shoulder to shoulder in the lead, about 100 yards in advance of the pack.

Taras Brown, Les Pawson and Johnny Kelley were well in the van of the secondary group, pockeying for position and conserving their energies.

As the downslope of the street levelled off between Ashland and Framingham, Cote kept his lead, but Evans began dropping back. Brown, too, quit pushing toward the front and dropped back temporarily to 17th place.

Cote was No. 1 man by 20 yards at Framingham.

TOP'S BROWN'S TIME

His time to this point was 31 minutes, 39 seconds, which was 16-3/5 seconds ahead of Brown's time last year.

In a close group, fighting for second place, were Johnny Kelley, Pawson, Paavo of the Millrose A. C., New York, R. S. Rankin of Preston, Ont., and Don Heinicke of Baltimore.

In a second bunch, ten yards behind, were Paul Donato, chunky Bostonian; Evans, Jack Wahlberg, also of Verdun, P. Q.; Ted McGlone of Boston and A. A. Zamparelli of Medford.

Pounding along the upgrade approaching Natick, Pawson, Rankin and Kelley cut down Cote's lead and the four were running neck and neck as they reached the watering trough checking point in Natick sq.

BEHIND RECORD

Time to that point was 52:31, a scant half minute better than Brown's of last year, but a couple

THRONGS CHEER REVERE ON RIDE

Paul Revere and William Dawes, Jr., reawakened the countryside from Boston town to Lexington Green today as they rode through neighboring villages and towns with messages of preparedness and peace.

Following the same routes taken by their famed predecessors of 163 years ago, who warned that the struggle for freedom had begun, today's modern couriers summoned all patriots to protect the freedom so resolutely won by the founding fathers.

Sped on their respective ways by Governor Leverett Saltonstall and Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, with the cheers of hundreds ringing in their ears, the riders passed through festive cities and towns celebrating the start of a successful struggle for democracy.

GOVERNOR SPEAKS

At the exercises at Concord and Lexington Governor Saltonstall said:

"April 19th, 1775, marked the birth of our own nation. Yet more far-reaching were the events of that spring morning. The patriots at Concord and Lexington won undying fame for firing the shot that was heard around the entire world.

"Today that shot is a very faint echo, indeed, almost lost in the roar of big guns and exploding bombs rained upon innocent peoples who love liberty just as dearly as did our forefathers.

"Today the march of freedom and peace has been halted by forces of oppression and violence far more deadly than our patriot ancestors bravely succeeded in defeating."

The part of Revere was played by Sergt. George J. Mailley and

4 Fake Unemployment Loss Put at Million

With indications that more than $1,000,000 has been paid out in fake unemployment compensation claims, State officials today launched a State-wide probe of the alleged swindling.

More than $100,000 has been paid in fake claims alone in Lawrence, it was learned.

The revelation came after UCC Commr. Robert E. Marshall made demand on 3811 "chiselers" for return of a total of $51,663 or face jail, and prepared similar demands on 1765 others.

Since Jan. 1, a total of 45,323 claims for adjustment of unemployment compensation have been received from Lawrence, Marshall revealed. The total population of Lawrence was 86,735 in the 1930 census.

In explanation of his opening drive in Lawrence yesterday, Marshall said that experience of officials throughout the country has been that mill workers, particularly in industries where they work "split-shifts" or where employment is seasonal, try to collect unemployment compensation.

45,323 CLAIMS

As an example of the heavy demand in Lawrence for unemployment compensation it was revealed yesterday that 45,323 claims have been received from that city since Jan. 1. When compared with a total population of 86,735 (1930 census) the figures show more than 50 per cent of the entire population has claimed jobless payment.

Experience of the UCC, both in Massachusetts and in other states throughout the country, Marshall said, shows that mill workers, as a class, contains a very high percentage of those who like to "take a chance" on collecting both unemployment compensation and pay checks in the mills.

In Lawrence, the 5576 fraud cases were uncovered in examination of less than 25,000 of the claims made—an amazing revelation of more than 20 per cent of all cases being fraudulent.

Marshall refused to make "guesses" on the total amount of frauds in the State but in answer to a query replied:

"Lawrence is just one city of many in the Commonwealth. You know how many big cities there are—figure out percentages for yourself."

3 Officers Wait Trial In Missing Boy Case

While three officers awaited trial on charges of negligence, Police Supt. Edward W. Fallon today pressed his investigation of a breakdown in his department's machinery in connection with a missing boy case.

Despite radio and teletype equipment, the boy remained overnight in the custody of one station while his parents were pleading with officers of another division to help find him.

The superintendent announced today that a police trial board will question at least three officers of the South Boston station as soon as a preliminary probe is completed by their commander, Capt. Joseph McKinnon.

The superintendent's action resulted from disclosures made when Joey Richiel, 4, was returned to his overjoyed mother, Mrs. Alexander Richiel, Mohawk st., South Boston, after an absence of 24 hours.

According to Mrs. Richiel, although she had reported the child's disappearance to the South Boston police station the previous day, and had been frequently urged by South Boston police to be patient, it was not until little Joey's picture appeared in a newspaper yesterday morning that she learned he was found.

The boy had been picked up by officers of the Fields Corner station in Dorchester Wednesday afternoon, and because it was impossible to learn his identity, was turned over to the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in Parker st., Roxbury, where he was recovered by his mother.

According to records in the radio room at police headquarters, no report of the child's disappearance was made by the South Boston station, so that the Fields Corner officers had no knowledge of Joey's identity when he was found.

Millette Freed on $4000 Bail

TAUNTON, April 19—Convicted on 61 counts of larceny of money from Charles Pittle, New Bedford pin ball operator, Joseph L. Millette, former deputy sheriff of New Bedford, today was free in $4000 bonds as counsel planned an appeal.

Millette took the verdict of a superior court jury calmly and conferred with legal aides on exceptions to be presented the Supreme Court.

He was also charged with threatening to drive Pittle out of business in the two indictments stating some $6000 was stolen.

Judge John E. Swift said sentence would be deferred until after the trial of New Bedford city officials on indictments charging irregularities in city affairs. This trial begins next Monday.

Pittle testified during the trial that he paid Millette from $195 to $200 a week for protection money for three months in 1937. Beginning in March, 1938, he and Millette entered into a partnership, during which he paid the latter from $200 to $250 a week, he said. This partnership continued until November, 1938, and was dissolved when the grand jury indicted Millette.

Among witnesses summoned by the prosecution to testify was Mayor Leo E. Carney of New Bedford, who himself is under indictment on charges of conspiracy to promote a lottery. This indictment is not related to the Millette charges.

Norway Expects U. S. 5 In War, Says Refugee

Citizens of Norway are certain that America eventually will become directly involved in the European war, pretty Ruth Engelsen, Norwegian bride-to-be of a Newton youth, disclosed today.

Here for her coming marriage to Carl C. Ellis, former third officer of the freighter City of Flint, the couple met while the ship was in Bergen, Norway, the girl's home city, after its capture by the German battleship Deutschland.

"It seems so grand to be in a free and safe country, and all I can hope is that peace will be continued here," Miss Engelsen said. "In Norway our own people believe this country will sooner or later be involved in the war, but I hope that day never comes."

The attractive blonde girl, now visiting at Ellis' Newtonville home, said she sailed for the United States only one day before the Nazi steam roller drove its crushing way across her homeland.

FAMILIES IN NORWAY

And news of this invasion, Miss Engelsen said, came by ship radio at sea, bringing horror and grief to her and to other fellow-countrymen whose families were in areas already bomb-shattered or at the mercy of an advancing army.

"The news came to us aboard ship with the suddenness of a bomb explosion," Miss Engelsen says. "Almost every passenger had members of his family in the threatened areas. And we had left only a day before, leaving a happy and peaceful land and people."

"It is true that we were aware, during the past months, of the presence of German spies in Norway. Only a few weeks ago, in Bergen, three spies were caught."

"One German spy was dressed as a woman, and wheeled a baby-carriage through the streets of Bergen. But the 'baby-carriage' was found to have a powerful radio concealed beneath the soft blankets. The other two spies had come into the country as 'salesmen' representing a big German concern."

"What none of us knew then was that there were traitors among our own people; those who have betrayed us to Germany. This is what I cannot understand. We never suspected that in high military circles there were fellow-countrymen who would sell their own country."

NO WORD FROM HOME

All efforts to make contact with her own family, Miss Engelsen said, have so far failed, although while in New York she visited the Norwegian consul and pleaded with him to make inquiries.

"My widowed mother," she said, "is in Bergen with my 19-year-old sister, Beth, and my brother, Ludvig, who is 17. My younger brother, Thor, who is 14, is in a private school in Hamar, where the King and government first fled on the night of the invasion. This city, by report, has been razed by bombs. I cannot even describe what it means to await news of my brother and the rest of the family."

"It all came so suddenly to Norway. The captain of our ship later told us that on his way up the Norwegian coast he saw a fleet of German ships going north and that he thought at the time it was a curious sight. But most of our people never believed war would strike with such suddenness."

F. D. TRAIN HELD FOR WAR NEWS

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN
EN ROUTE TO WARM SPRINGS, Ga., April 19 (AP)—Hopeful that Europe's war would take no new tangents to force his precipitate return to Washington, President Roosevelt rode today toward the red hills of Georgia for a vacation at the little White House at Warm Springs.

"If another country is invaded, I'll be right back," the President said as he left the capital last night.

The fact that he decided to make the trip at this time, however, was taken generally as an indication that the government lacked any information indicative of immediate, alarming developments across the Atlantic.

Mr. Roosevelt said before his departure from Washington that he did not know what might happen abroad, but that something might. Accordingly, his special train was to be held at Atlanta with the crew ordered to stand by for a quick run to Washington on two hours' notice.

As the presidential special sped across the Carolinas today the Chief Executive's principal business was completion of an address to be made from Warm Springs tomorrow night to members of Young Democrats' Clubs assembled at dinners over the country.

It was taken for granted that his remarks would have political implications. But politicians had no expectation that he would select that particular speech to disclose his position on a third term.

Mr. Roosevelt hopes to remain at Warm Springs, recuperating further from a recent attack of intestinal influenza, until the end of the month.

On the President's train were Basil O'Connor of New York, former law partner of Mr. Roosevelt who is connected with the Warm Springs Foundation; Captain Daniel J. Callaghan, naval aide; Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, navy surgeon general and the President's personal physician, and a small clerical staff.

Cromwell Out For U. S. Senate

SOMERVILLE, N. J., April 19 (INS)—James H. R. Cromwell, U. S. minister to Canada, today formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator from New Jersey.

If successful in the New Jersey primary on May 21, Cromwell will oppose Senator W. W. Barbour, Republican incumbent, in the fall elections.

Bride Who Came 10,000 Miles Will Travel Again

After a voyage of 10,000 miles from South Africa, which ended happily with a Dorchester marriage, Mrs. Irene Bristow Hyatt was packing again today.

Her husband, the Rev. William H. Hyatt, 25, of West Newton st., South End, Seventh Day Adventist minister, has received an appointment to Washington and the young couple will leave Boston after their honeymoon weekend.

They met in a Cape Town, South Africa, school, then parted four years ago, when he came to America to continue his religious education.

When the West Isleta docked here last Friday, after a 30-day voyage through submarine-charged waters, the young minister and his fiancée were reunited.

He had made all arrangements for bridesmaids, wedding and celebration. She brought her trousseau with her.

They went straight to City Hall for a marriage license and were married yesterday at the home of Dorchester friends. Today they're getting ready to move again, and not for the last time.

Rev. Mr. Hyatt explains that Seventh Day Adventists travel a great deal. They'll probably be returning to South Africa before very long, he said.

New Expert to Probe Maine State Funds

AUGUSTA, Me., April 19—Governor Lewis O. Barrows today named Willis E. Swift, Augusta business man and former member of the state liquor commission, as new finance man to investigate the state's frenzied finance.

"In all probability," said the Governor, "the Legislature will consider correcting some very glaring imperfections of the present law, and as soon as that is accomplished, I shall be very glad, although I will do it reluctantly, to comply with Mr. Swift's expressed desire to then retire from state service."

Swift was appointed to succeed William S. Owen who resigned voluntarily two days ago during rapid-moving developments in the probe of the State's financial muddle.

Shortages totalling $72,000 have been linked by auditors to the office of State Controller under William A. Runkles, who resigned while the audit was in progress.

Mysterious theft on Feb. 26, 1933 of records from the Auburn registry brought a compilation of accounts and announcement of a "net shortage" of $34,988. The theft has never been solved.

Mathematical sleuths are checking an accounting of $18,000,000 in ERA payments in Maine which were handled by former State Comptroller William A. Runkles.

The money, spent in 1934 and 1935, is being traced through checks. Two truck loads of these federal checks are being audited by an accounting firm.

There "has never been any report made" on expenditure of the federal funds, the last Legislature was told by State Senator Gail Laughlin of Portland, member of a legislative committee which investigated the federal administration in this state.

Another development was appointment by Senate President Sumner Sewall of William D. Hayes, Bangor accountant, as state auditor.

Runkles, now recovering from a self-inflicted gun wound termed accidental, returned $26,420 to the state after charges that $35,000 was missing from highway department garage receipts.

Girl Nurse Missing; Hunt Man With Scar

Boston police today were asked to join in the search for pretty, blue-eyed Irene Grant, 20, Peabody student nurse who disappeared from her home a week ago.

The girl, modestly attired, was last seen April 12 at about 8:30 p. m. when she left her home in Tracy st., Peabody, with a man driving a maroon colored car, Inspector John F. Burns of the Peabody police said.

Inspector Burns said he also asked assistance of state police in the search, at the same time advancing the theory the girl may have eloped.

The mother, Mrs. Florence G. Grant, a widow, said Irene had been a student nurse at the J. B. Thomas Hospital, Peabody, up to a few months ago.

Mrs. Grant was able to give only a partial description of her daughter's motorist friend. He had a deep scar about one and a half inches long just below his lower lip, she said. He was said to be of slight build with black hair and dark eyes.

Irene wore a blue coat with a gray fur collar and a blue crownless flower hat of latest style. She is described of medium build with light brown hair, light blue eyes, with good teeth and regular features.

WOMAN TRAPS BANDIT

Caught after a woman told police she saw him acting suspiciously near a stolen taxicab, a Brighton man was questioned today concerning the robbery of John Murphy, 37, Brookline cab driver.

Murphy reported he was held up by a passenger who hired the taxi at Coolidge Corner. After forcing him to hand over $9 in cash, the man forced Murphy from the machine near St. Elizabeth's Hospital. A few minutes later police received a phone call from a woman who told of seeing a man step from a taxicab, carefully wipe the steering wheel and door handles with a piece of paper, then run across the grounds of the Oakley Country Club.

Special Officer Michael Cullinane seized the man at School and Mt. Auburn sts. He denied any part in the robbery, but was identified by Murphy.

Meanwhile, Roxbury police searched for two men who threatened to shoot the 13-year-old son of Mrs. Edna Druker when they robbed her store in Warren st. The mother, son, Jacob, and daughter, Aida, 15, were imprisoned in a back room while the bandits escaped with $40.

One Dead, 30 Homes Razed, Tornado Toll

HOUMA, La., April 19 (AP)—Tornado winds whipped across part of Louisiana again, killing a woman, injuring at least four other persons and demolishing more than 30 residences with many thousands of dollars in property loss.

The disturbance, centered in central and southeast Louisiana near Bayou sections laid waste two weeks ago by other violent spring storms, raised the state's tornado toll for the season to 26 dead and hundreds injured.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

CIO Wins Auto Union Poll

DETROIT, April 19 (AP)—The climax of a year-long dispute over bargaining in General Motors Corp. plants gave the United Automobile Workers (CIO) a decisive victory today over their chief rivals, the United Automobile Workers (AFL).

More than 120,000 General Motors employees in 60 plants voted Wednesday in the largest representation poll ever held by the National Labor Relations Board. UAW-CIO won bargaining rights in 49 plants, including the largest units in the far-flung General Motors system, but challenged votes in one small Detroit plant might reduce the figure to 45.

UAW-A. F. of L. won bargaining rights in five plants, none of them in Michigan where G. M.'s principal operations are centered.

WPA Bill Raises Slush Fund Charge

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Administration leaders, disregarding Republican queries as to whether a "campaign slush fund" was sought, were working quietly today for speedy House approval of President Roosevelt's plan to maintain relief spending at the present $1,500,000,000-a-year rate.

They were spurred, authoritative sources said, by a White House request that Congress expedite disposition of the relief issue so as not to delay its own adjournment.

In a letter to Speaker Bankhead, Mr. Roosevelt asked yesterday for discretionary authority to spend a $975,000,000 WPA appropriation in eight months, if necessary, instead of the full year as he originally recommended.

"There is certainly at the present time," the President wrote, "no information available to justify a reduction in the program of the Work Projects Administration below that which has been carried on in the current fiscal year with an appropriation of approximately one and one-half billion dollars."

Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner, later told reporters that the $975,000,000, if spent during the first eight months, would maintain work relief rolls at the 1940 level of about 2,000,000 persons a month.

REPUBLICANS CRITICAL

Political implications were immediately read into the President's request by Republican critics. Rep. Fish (R.) of New York, asked on the House floor whether "another campaign slush fund" was in the offing.

"Does it mean that another 500,000 people are going to be padded onto the payrolls during September, October and November at public expense?" he asked.

Although there was sharp conflict of opinion among members of the appropriations subcommittee considering the relief estimates, Democratic House members generally supported Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion.

Rep. Woodrum (D.) of Virginia, acting chairman of the subcommittee, however, expressed the view that if the $975,000,000 were made available for expenditure in eight months, it would all be spent in that time. Mr. Roosevelt had suggested that a pickup in employment might make additional relief funds necessary.

PASS LOGAN-WALTER BILL

Although influential House Democrats said the President's request might delay final disposition of the relief bill, Woodrum issued a statement asserting that it would be expedited.

The House, meanwhile, began debate today on a bill to extend the federal crop insurance program to cotton, now limited to wheat.

After three days of debate, the House yesterday overwhelmingly approved the Logan-Walter bill to provide for uniform procedure by federal administrative agencies and for speedier court review of their orders.

The measure went to the Senate by the topheavy vote of 283 to 97.

Actress Who First Sang 'Tipperary' Dies

ABERDEEN, Scotland, April 19 (AP)—Florrie Forde, old time music hall favorite who introduced "Tipperary" to British Tommies at the start of the World War, was dead today, a few hours after she had entertained patients in a naval hospital. She was 65.

Tax Delinquents Face Water Loss

Delinquent water taxpayers face the prospect of being deprived entirely of water service under terms of a revised ordinance favorably reported by City Council and scheduled for final action at Monday's council meeting.

Under one revision the public works commissioner will serve notices on property owners who fail to pay their water bills 30 days after the date due. Ten days later, if the bill is still unpaid, the commissioner is authorized to shut off service.

Property owners will have a minimum of 55 days, or about two months, in which to pay their bills before being faced with possible loss of water service, authors of the new legislation said.

12 Lewisohn Love Child Failed to Save Union

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Ludwig Lewisohn described in State Supreme Court his years of relationship with Thelma Bowman Spear and asserted he had thought the birth of a child might consolidate their union and "help her moral outlook on life and give her a chance to prove her fidelity to me."

"That's how Jimmy came into the world," he said.

The 58-year-old Jewish writer told the story in the trial of his suit against Miss Spear, former concert singer, for custody of James Elias Lewisohn, now 6 1/2 years old. Repeatedly he charged, during a rigorous two-hour cross-examination, that Miss Spear had been guilty of "numerous spiritual and moral transgressions."

In the court room was the present wife of Lewisohn, the former Edna Manley of Rochester, N. Y., whose marriage to the author in Baltimore Feb. 6, Miss Spear tried in vain to prevent.

Lewisohn said his love for Miss Spear cooled about 1928 but that over a period of years Miss Spear spurned his offers of marriage.

The last time he proposed, he testified, was in October, 1937. He made the offer for the sake of the child, he said, and added:

"But she refused in such vituperative, if not utterly obscene terms that no man of honor would offer marriage again."

ASKS FUND FOR FINN HOMELESS

WASHINGTON, April 19 (INS)—Finland, whose plight is temporarily eclipsed by that of other Scandinavian countries, is in desperate need of money to rehabilitate 500,000 evacuees from the Russian-controlled territory of Finland.

Word to this effect was brought here by Aukusti Kuusisto, leader of the Socialist Democratic party in the Helsinki government who has just arrived in this country from Finland on a relief mission.

"Half a million Finns have been forced to leave their native homes and must now be assimilated by the remainder of the Finnish population," Kuusisto said. "We must provide immediately at least 60,000 new farms to enable these evacuees to earn a livelihood."

The Finnish Parliament member, who is a financial expert in his government, announced he will canvass Finnish-Americans throughout the United States in an effort to obtain additional relief funds.

The Finnish leader, beginning a three-month tour of this country, said the major effect of the Russo-Finnish war was to solidify Finland and eliminate all partisan and factional differences.

Kuusisto said the fate of the members of the Russian Puppet government, which has been temporarily established in the Terijoki Peninsula, is unknown in Finland. He said it was reported that all members of this temporary regime had been "liquidated" by the Moscow government.

The legislator, who sailed to this country aboard the last Norwegian vessel to clear Norway before the German invasion of that country, said he had noticed "an unusual number" of freighters sailing the Nazi flag in the ports of Bergen and Stavanger, Norway, on his departure.

While his ship was at sea, en route to this country, the lightning German invasion occurred.

Who Said Women Can Out Talk Men?

Two fair members of the Boston University Women's Debating Club were back home today after defeat at the hands of two Massachusetts State College men's debating squad members in a debate at Amherst.

Misses Julia Kelley and Edith Goldman attempted unsuccessfully to uphold the negative of: "That the United States should follow a policy of strict military and economic isolation toward all countries engaged in civil or international strife."

Victors were Dean T. Terry and Herbert Weiner of State.

She said everything will be finished by October. And she is partially correct. The cruller was finished yesterday.

Hoover Says Plot on To 'Smear' FBI Aims

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said that last week the Communist party of America had issued orders to "smear" and compromise the G-men, and he added: "we accept the challenge."

Speaking at the 49th annual continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Hoover replied to recent criticism of the FBI, saying:

"I charge that accusations indicating a purpose on the part of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to become an OGPU, a Gestapo, a national police, or anything resembling such bodies, emanate, directly or indirectly, from certain anti-American bodies who hope to discredit the FBI as a step in a general plan to disrupt the entire United States or from well-meaning but misinformed persons who have fallen for the lies and utterly false information of those who would tear asunder America's machinery of law enforcement."

FOREIGN BORN

He continued: "Such monstrosities as the OGPU and the Gestapo are foreign born. They are inhuman, uncivilized and un-American. Any person who charges that such methods have been condoned or even considered within the FBI deliberately purveys a malignant falsehood."

Eight vice-presidents general and two honorary vice-presidents general were elected.

The following seven vice-presidents general will serve 3 years: Mrs. William Harrison Hightower, Thomson, Ga.; Mrs. Eugene N. Davis, Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. Reuben Edward Knight, Alliance, Neb.; Mrs. B. H. Gogley, Lansing, Mich.; Mrs. Jacob F. Zimmerman, Harvey, Ill.; Miss Marion Seelye, Abilene, Kas., and Mrs. Fred C. Morgan, Saco, Me.

SERVES OUT TERM

Mrs. Wilbur B. Blakeslee, Baltimore, Md., was elected to serve out the term of the late Mrs. Charles H. Adams of Denver Col., vice-president general. The two honorary vice-presidents general elected were M. S. Gerald Livingston Schuyler, Denver, and Miss William Henderson Vaught, of Point Pleasant, W. Va.

Charge 11 Sought R. I. Fraud Election

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 19—Headed by President Emile Gladu of the Central Falls Board of Aldermen, 11 persons, including three women, today were under indictment on charges of conspiring to prevent an honest election in that city in November, 1938.

They constituted the second group indicted by a Superior Court grand jury.

OPERATION FAILS TO SAVE SMILING GIRL'S SIGHT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 19 (AP)—Smiling little Barbara Joyce Davis, blind and deaf since an attack of meningitis eight years ago, probably will never see again, a surgeon announced today after a second delicate operation revealed an eye seemingly beyond repair.

The vitreous inner chamber of the 11-year-old Memphis girl's eye had become stone-like in long years of disease and deterioration, the physician said. At best, he indicated, the operation had been but a forlorn hope to release the child from a world of silent darkness. He "made" a new pupil for the eye several weeks ago.

Because there have been no means of communication with the child since she was stricken, she has never learned to talk, although her vocal chords apparently are normal.

Immediately after learning the outcome of the operation, interested friends planned to begin having her taught through touch—a method by which the famed Helen Keller years ago met—and mastered—similar handicaps.

Bees' Scarsella Dodges Suit

Les Scarsella, Eastern Park baseball manager, apparently was caught between third and home today. It all revolved about a law suit reported threatened by his father-in-law, as a result of an auto accident, in which attractive blonde Mrs. Scarsella was killed.

In Cincinnati, Ohio, Emmanuel, father of Mrs. Scarsella, denied he had filed suit either in Cincinnati or in Danville, Ky., where the accident occurred. But in Boston, Casey Stengel, Bees' manager, was reported to have given Scarsella permission to remain in Cincinnati in order to avoid service.

18 Dutch Warn They'll Fight Any Invaders

assistance of any third power to maintain its neutrality." He concluded with: "Trusting in God, the government and nation will remain strong and defend their liberty."

OFFERS PEACE AID
The prime minister said The Netherlands stood outside the European conflict and again offered the services of his government toward bringing about peace when the belligerents are willing to accept its good offices.

"We will maintain our neutrality toward all sides . . . and no threats or allurements can make us deviate from this," de Geer said.

"Any preventive help which it might be thought of giving us shall be resisted by force of arms."

In Holland's first major crisis of this war, last Nov. 1, a royal decree established martial law in key defense communities which included 500 of the country's 1200 smaller towns and villages. That decree affected portions of seven provinces - North and South Holland, Zeeland, Limburg, North Brabant, Gelderland and Friesland.

ARMY OF 400,000

On Jan. 14, simultaneously with a Belgian order for almost complete mobilization, The Netherlands government cancelled all army leaves "in view of certain less favorable symptoms in the international situation."

This brought the total Dutch armed force to 400,000 men.

On March 8 Defense Minister Lieut-Col. A. Q. H. Dijkshoorn announced that another decree extending martial law to the "greater part of The Netherlands" was in preparation.

On April 9, with rumors again in the air as to possible foreign invasion of The Netherlands, the government once more cancelled almost all army, navy and air force leaves and ordered guards placed at important public buildings.

NAZIS OUST NORWAY'S MINISTER

BERLIN, April 19 (AP)—Germany ordered the Norwegian Minister to Germany, Arne Scheel, to leave Berlin today.

The action was tantamount to breaking off diplomatic relations with the Norwegian government of King Haakon VII and Premier Johan Nygaardsvold.

The legation staff was ordered to leave with the minister.

Despite the German invasion of Norway, the German government had continued to receive Scheel as the envoy of a friendly power and had urged him to get his government to co-operate with the Germans.

On instructions from the King and premier, Scheel yesterday had asked Germany for permission to remain at his post. The answer given today was that he and his staff must leave at once.

It was explained officially that Germany took this abrupt action "in view of the hostile attitude of King Haakon."

Pardons on Hitler's 51st Birthday

BERLIN, April 19 (AP)—Publication of a decree by Adolf Hitler of amnesty for physicians, artists and pharmacists convicted of offenses against their professional rules committed before last Sept. 1 coincides with preparations for celebration tomorrow of the Fuehrer's 51st birthday.

The amnesty actually was decreed April 6 but not published until yesterday in the Official Law Gazette. The Sept. 1 limit for the amnesty coincides with the date that Germany went to war with Poland—the actual start of the European conflict.

As is the custom, Hitler's anniversary tomorrow will be celebrated on a nation-wide scale, but the celebration will be subdued because of the war.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels makes his customary nation-wide birthday evening speech tonight at 7 o'clock.

Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy party leader and second in line of succession to him, addresses the nation's youth at 8 a. m. tomorrow.

And Baldur von Schirach, head of the Hitler youth organization who now is a corporal as the army, will extend the organization's best wishes to Hitler from the west front by radio tomorrow night.

Neutrals Get Red Warning

LONDON, April 19 (INS)—The Moscow radio broadcast a warning to Belgium and Holland today that they could expect an invasion in the near future, according to the London Daily Express.

The Moscow radio broadcast as reproduced by the Express follows:

"Belgium and Holland are strangled in a war spider's web, try as they may to maintain their neutrality. It is clear that this is impossible.

"Just as Abyssinia, Albania, Norway, Denmark and Poland were invaded, so this fate awaits Belgium and Holland."

"They have received too much attention from imperialists."

"Those countries which imperialists regard too feebly are doomed like the innocent victims of Medina."

warplanes that the Nazis sent against them.

German parachute troops were reported making a desperate effort to blow up the railway leading from the town of Alesund to prevent British troops from reaching the Elverum front to reinforce the Norwegians.

"WAITING FOR BRITISH"

Major Jivenslett, who previously turned down an offer of the post of defense minister from the Nazi-sponsored puppet regime in Oslo, and now in charge of operations on the Elverum front, declared in an interview:

"We can hold the Germans for some time on the Elverum-Hamar front, despite the fact that they have penetrated nearly to Lake Mjøsa, about 12 miles south of Hamar."

"German parachute troops are of no value in our fields."

"Now we are waiting for the British."

An authentic summary of the military situation in Norway given to International News Service by Norwegian military officials showed that German troops are still holding the northern port of Narvik but facing stiffened Norwegian resistance in the Trondheim and Bergen sectors.

NO DECISIVE BATTLES

British troops hold Narvik, near the scene of today's fighting between the British and Germans, while the Norwegians control the area still further north.

According to Norwegian officers fighting is progressing all over Norway but so far there have been few major changes in the situation. The biggest and most decisive battles are yet to be fought.

It was revealed that the Germans had attempted to send an expedition north to Tromsø but were driven back to Narvik by a Norwegian brigade.

In southern Norway the entire Ostfold region from Oslo east and south to the Swedish frontier is controlled by the Germans. But Norwegian troops, isolated in the Fossum region, are holding out in a stubborn and brave defense and their forts are now known as Norway's "Alcazar."

British Drive Puts Nazis in Tight Trap

RIKSGRAENSEN, Swedish-Norwegian Frontier, April 19 (INS)—Travelers reaching this border station reported today that German forces north of Narvik have been cut off from their base and are in a desperate situation.

They face either annihilation or a perilous flight to Sweden and internment there sources claimed.

The trapped German forces, the border refugees said, are now about 15 miles north of Narvik, where they face attack by combined British-Norwegian forces from the British base at Harstad.

Nazis Hail Military Solidarity of Axis

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, April 19 (INS)—The exchange of visits between German and Italian military missions was heralded by the German press as new evidence of Rome-Berlin axis solidarity today, while military quarters claimed new successes against the British in Norway.

All Berlin newspapers heavily featured news of the exchange as a warning to the Allies that the military alliance between the Reich and Italy is "functioning."

There was no official comment, but the newspapers strove to create the impression that the general staffs of both countries are actively collaborating for solution of common problems.

NAZIS USE NEW BOMB

Significantly, Nazi newspapers again emphasized the potential role of Spain in the spreading European conflict. All cut of on their front pages translations of a Madrid newspaper editorial reminding Britain that Gibraltar "is a name which pierces like a dagger the heart of every Spaniard."

(A bulletin from Rome said rumors of Italy's imminent entry into the war on the side of Germany are false, according to diplomatic circles there.)

(These quarters said they were convinced the rumors were spread by the British government to force a new definition of the Italian position prior to commencement of more aggressive Anglo-French moves in the Balkans.)

In connection with general air developments and recent claims of German air triumphs over the British fleet, it was learned on reliable authority that the Germans are now using for the first time a 2000-pound high explosive aerial bomb, capable of sinking a cruiser or wrecking a battleship with a single hit.

PIERCES HEAVY ARMOR

The long-rumored new weapon was at last brought into play in a shrewdly-timed maneuver to convince Italy and Spain that air power is superior to sea power and that the British fleet is no longer invincible.

Informed German quarters asserted the new bomb is powerful enough to pierce the heaviest

LATE BULLETINS FROM WAR FRONTS

LONDON, April 19 (INS)—Soviet Russia's Pacific fleet has received orders to prepare to convoy Russian freighters plying between America and the Soviet port of Vladivostok, the London Daily Telegraph reported today. Britain last week announced a tightening of blockade measures in the Pacific against goods destined for Germany.

PARIS, April 19 (AP)—The Czechoslovak national committee in France today published a blue book accusing Germany of "scientific barbarism" in universities and colleges of Bohemia and Moravia.

The document said students had been imprisoned, tortured and assassinated, and teachers exposed to persecution and jail.

OSLO, April 19 (AP)—Einar Christensen, chief of the administrative council which has taken over civil government functions in German-occupied territory, today outlined the duties of his council as re-establishment of normal life behind the German lines. The council was appointed by the Supreme Court, although the Norwegian government, fugitive from the German invasion, denies its authority.

An Executive Shows Her Ability

FLY 2000 NAZIS EACH DAY TO NORWAY

LONDON, April 19 (AP)—Germany is flying about 2000 a day to Norway, a Norwegian government official newly arrived in London estimated today.

Scandinavian observers placed the number of German soldiers now in Norway at 60,000.

German bombers have pursued King Haakon VII and his government in their flight from Oslo through the aid of "German espionage," the Norwegian charged.

The official, who reviewed his function in an interview under the sponsorship of the British foreign office, said that even before big raids against the King and his fleeing government were ordered out by the Germans, "on one occasion," he said, "I lay face down in a wood not 50 meters from King Haakon while the Germans bombed and machine-gunned the village of Neuberghund where we had hidden for an hour and three-quarters.

"We have lost Oslo, Trondheim and Bergen, but we do not feel it to be a decisive blow.

"The government has been re-established and has resumed its full powers after the terrible first three days.

"As a practical measure we now have a committee in Oslo headed by Einar Christensen which is charged with maintaining order in the city and other occupied territory."

Christensen and his committee, he said, should "in no way be considered as placing themselves at the disposal of the Germans."

The Norwegian asserted reports of betrayal of Norway to the German officers must be taken "with the greatest reservations," but acknowledged that Narvik, far northern port, was one point where "Norway was betrayed by agreement and not by accident."

NAZI RUSS SUCCEEDS

The fjord at Trondheim was forced by the German fleet through a rust he said.

"German men-of-war herded Norwegian passenger ships and fishing smacks before them as they approached Frolen Agdenes at the mouth of the fjord and the Norwegians could not fire without massacring their own countrymen," he said.

Elsewhere, he said, frequent radio announcement that the Norwegian government had ordered them to surrender confused Norwegian forces and delayed resistance.

Two men named ministers of the regime proclaimed in Oslo by Maj. Vidkun Quisling, he said, were out of Oslo when appointed and "both immediately offered their services to the King when they learned the true nature of the situation."

Another Quisling minister, he said, was captured by Norwegian troops (Quisling's regime passed out of existence with the formation of the Christensen committee in Oslo.)

Balkans Fear Trojan Horse

BUDAPEST, April 19 (AP)—Germany was suspected in many quarters of the Balkans today of having rolled "Trojan horses" into the little southeastern countries.

The Reich, according to these circles, has embarked on a policy of sending thousands of Germans into southeastern Europe and making deals with disgruntled nationalists so that internal crises might be provoked and putches be attempted whenever such events might serve Germany's ends.

Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania met the asserted threat by clamping a tighter control on all foreigners, and the last two countries went forward with plans to expel numerous Germans.

All three governments, and Turkey as well, were on the alert for nationalists of pro-Nazi leanings.

The Yugoslav government announced today that former Premier Milan Stoyadinovic had been taken into custody as the result of a police raid on his home which disclosed documents linking him with Nazi "fifth column" activity in Yugoslavia.

The announcement said the former premier, known as "Germany's friend," would be taken to the village of Rudnik, south of Belgrade, where he will be forced to reside. Police said Rudnik was in the mountains, completely cut off from the outside world.

In Istanbul, a former minister of national economy, siret Belinglu, was under arrest charged with lobbying among army, navy and government officials against Turkey's mutual assistance pacts with Great Britain and France.

In Hungary, police kept a close watch on former Premier Bela Ludi, who has been accused of "playing the German game." In Rumania King Carol continued his efforts to rally opposition leaders behind him.

Haakon Begs His People to Fight

LONDON, April 19 (INS)—From secret headquarters "somewhere in Norway," King Haakon and members of the Nygaardsvold government today called upon Norwegians to save their country from foreign rule, according to a Reuters (British) dispatch. Reuters quoted the proclamation in part as follows: "Every Norwegian ought to feel confident that the King and government are making all efforts in their power to save the country from foreign rule and force and re-establish a free, independent Norway as soon as possible. "All Norwegians must assist in this struggle for liberty if they want to be Norwegians and call themselves Norwegians."

Reynaud Sure As Test Nears

PARIS, April 19 (AP)—Premier Paul Reynaud moved ahead with a new debate in a secret session of the chamber of deputies today strengthened by an enthusiastic reception accorded his war policies by the Senate yesterday. Seven legislators, who had given notice of questions they would ask on the conduct of the war, spoke during the first meeting this morning. A vote in open session after the secret debate was planned as the second test of the French parliament's confidence in the Reynaud cabinet. He won the first test by a single vote when he presented his new government on March 22.

Senate Will Probe Pre-Election Funds

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Whisperings of large expenditures in recent presidential and senatorial primaries assumed sufficient volume today to cause Chairman Gillette, (D) of Iowa, to call a forenoon meeting of the Senate campaign investigating committee.

Gillette said the group would consider complaints that large sums of money had been spent in several states. He added that some charges had been received from Nebraska, but because they contained such inadequate information he had asked for "specifications and particulars."

Another complaint which the committee would consider, he said, charged "improper use of patronage and official influence" in Missouri.

The committee would decide, he said, whether this complaint warranted the dispatch of a subcommittee to Missouri for hearings.

Patronage charges already have resulted in committee investigations being sent to Kansas.

It has been suggested that his committee was "not a searching" group and would disallow only those charges which appeared to have "any substantial basis."

ENDORSES HULL

Capital politicians, meanwhile, were interested in the announcement of Gov. Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina that he favored Secretary of State Hull for President.

Hoey said at Raleigh, N. C., he had "very good reason to believe" that President Roosevelt would support Hull, and expressed the hope that North Carolina's 26 votes in the Democratic convention would go to the cabinet member.

Hull has kept aloof from the pre-convention Presidential campaign, and is reported to have urged friends not to press his name for the nomination.

Postmaster General Farley, an avowed candidate for Democratic honors, was given a testimony dinner in New York last night at which he declared that leaders of industry, transportation, finance, agriculture and labor should "submerge their selfishness."

REVIVES 3D TERM TALK

President Roosevelt told reporters yesterday that his luncheon conference with Farley on Tuesday concerned selection of a permanent chairman and keynote speaker for the Democratic National Convention.

The President did not mention any names at his press conference, but at the Capitol Senators Barkley of Kentucky, Byrnes of South Carolina, Pepper of Florida and Lee of Oklahoma were among those talked about as possible keynoters.

Third term talk was given impetus with the statement by Alvin J. Wirtz, new undersecretary of the interior, that he would go to his home state of Texas shortly to "put in some ticks" for another four years for Roosevelt.

Supporters of Vice-President Garner would not comment on Wirtz' statement that the people of Texas would be willing to give Garner a complimentary vote and "then go for a third term."

Farley Urges Leaders Meet

NEW YORK, April 19 (INS)—James A. Farley, Democratic Presidential aspirant, in a speech at a testimonial dinner in his honor suggested a conference of the leaders of industry, transportation, finance, agriculture and labor as a means to bring about the solution of America's economic problems.

Touching on the foreign situation, the Democratic state and national chairman said the people of this country "stand one hundred per cent behind the Roosevelt policy of foreign relations" and added:

"We want no part of the war in the other hemisphere and we will permit no part of it to come to this hemisphere."

The dinner in Farley's honor was given by the New York Young Democratic Club, and was attended by about 2000.

MRS. DAVID LASKER
Heads League

Save-a-Life Aid Is Asked

At work anew today were members of the Save-A-Life League of the Boston auxiliary of the Los Angeles Sanatorium following a luncheon meeting at the Hotel Statler.

Members of the league heard Mrs. David Lasker, the president, urge all to help its humanitarian efforts.

She pointed out that persons on this side of the water should be glad they are asked only to help the indigent victims of tuberculosis without the necessity of caring for victims of war.

Guest speaker was Dr. Julius B. Toitz.

From California came cantaloupes which went for 40 cents each and new potatoes at 8 cents a pound. The best of the Louisiana strawberry crop sold at 15 cents a pint, and peated hens from the west, at 31 cents.

Especially shipped up were the cantaloupes, but with the market closed today for the holiday, it was expected a fresh supply would be on hand in a few days.

Green and lima beans are down to 20 cents a pound in the big market. There are a few wax beans at two pounds for 35 cents. Onions are a trifle higher in price. The yellows are quoted at eight cents a pound, the Spanish at 10 cents, and the Cuban-grown Bermuda type at 15 cents.

Native hothouse lettuce sells at 15 cents a head, the iceberg at 20 and romaine at 25 cents in the big stalls. In common chain stores prices generally are 11 cents a head, or two for 25 cents.

Hothouse cucumbers are 15 cents each. Spinach varies from 15 to 30 cents a peck. The high price for peas is 18 cents, sweet peppers from 60 cents a dozen to 27 cents a pound. Beets are 5 to 10 cents a bunch, carrots 5 to 8 cents. Good Florida summer squash is quoted at 15 cents a pound.

Fancy California asparagus is now 40 cents a bunch.

The trend in pork prices is reported higher, although thus far this spring prices have advanced little. Provision dealers expect to mark up some cuts most in demand. Fresh shoulders now are quoted as low as 12 to 14 cents and smoked shoulders at 13 cents.

Whole or cut roasting loins are still selling at 25 cents a pound. Whole or half hams are from 23 to 29 cents.

Cod and haddock sell at 12 and 14 cents a pound respectively. Native shoals halibut has dropped to 35 cents this week. Fresh alewives are 15 cents a pound; smelts, striped bass and jack shad are 25 and 30 cents, while large shad now go for 45 and 50 cents a pound.

WEDGIES ADD GLAMOROUS INCHES TO YOUR HEIGHT

Wedgies are as comfortable as ol' shoes. And they do Cinderella things to your feet. I did this whole shopping tour on wedgies without a twinge. On my honor.

They add glamorous inches to your height. If you always wobbled on spikes, but refused to the bitter end to give up the precious three inches, then wedgies are for you. You'll be the Cock o' the Walk as you step truly lively down the street.

The shoe manufacturers have gone whole hog with their paint brush in the coloring of the wedgies. If you're a conservative, you can have them in all brown or black. If you like a little dash, you can get color in a couple of the layers in the heel. Or if you're a daredevil, you can have the whole shoe in practically any color of the rainbow.

Did you hear the news that's going around. The latest thing is an archless shoe, the whole arch completely scooped out. If you're one who's always first with things, then these are for you.

NEWEST SHADE IS MAYFLOWER

You don't have to be a descendant of John Alden to look fetching in the new Mayflower Pink that's blooming in the shop windows.

It's such a soft, warm, rosy pink that it does pretty things to all of us. Of course, it doesn't do any harm to have a speck of New England in you to complement the shade.

Mayflower Pink has gone into all walks of life. You'll wear Mayflower Pink lingerie, you'll write your billet doux on Mayflower pink stationery, and you'll shade your pretty face with a Mayflower Pink parasol. Not to speak of your dress, and hat in the same shade, along with every other conceivable accessory.

LONG LINE EFFECT IS THE THING

What kind of a shadow do you cast? Do you cut the long-torsoed silhouette? That's 1940, y'know. In fact, 1940 will go down in fashion history as the year that marked the return of the torso. It's featured in everything from milady's undergarments to her slacks suit and evening gown. It's all around us.

It's most pronounced in the new spring suit. Coats are as long as 33 inches which is somewhere around finger-tip length. The skirt that goes with the new, long jacket is straighter and narrower than we've been used to for a long time. Less fullness in all skirts, the stylists tell us. The better to slenderize you, m' dear.

You get the same long line in your sweater and skirt outfit. You've never seen such a long sweater! It simply erases hips. The skirt is comfortably short.

You achieve the long torso effect in your slacks outfit by wearing your skirt outside. It comes long, too, and you don't have to worry about the rear view any more.

And in the evening, you're a divine sylph with a long, long waist that the dressmaker gave you by beginning the skirt very low on the figure.

MANY THINGS TO WEAR IF YOU ARE TO MARRY

Planning a trousseau?

If your path leads to the altar, and you're taking dramatic vows, then spring means more than mere new clothes to you.

It means a going-away dress, an all-purpose coat for the resort you're retiring to, slacks for lazy-lounging, a crepe or two for your public appearances, and an evening gown for a social time.

You probably want a suit-dress for your farwells. A rayon crepe travels well and suits the thermometer, if you're going to be a June bride.

Slacks in gabardine take to "roughing it," if you're planning a return to nature on your wedding trip. Flannel is also serviceable, particularly if the weather's a bit cool, which it could well be.

You'll make no mistake if you pick a coat-dress for a crepe number. It's sure to win the approval of your dearest audience.

For evening hours, why not wear the bridal colors, and dazzle them with a - checked, white pique? You see there it is again.

Now that your trousseau is completed, your last and most important thought concerns the gown you'll wear at the climactic moment of your life when you become Mrs. There's everything to choose from. If it's a garden wedding, silk marquisette is nice.

The bride comes in pink, as well as white this year. And she looks truly heavenly in pale blossom pink silk marquisette dress. Her flower girl can wear marquisette, too.

There's white organdy for the truly young bride. It's arrumpious banded in Swiss eyelet embroidery. Cotton gets married, too. And it has the advantage of being inexpensive as well as wearable after the wedding at summer affairs.

PRICES NOW SUIT EACH GIRL'S PURSE

There was a time when you simply could not find simple well-bred clothes for little money. Unless you paid scads of money for a dress or coat, hat or shoes, you had to content yourself with "dolly type" things. NOW, a gal can just name the price—and she'll find the type dress or coat she craves. Classic, simple clothes range in price from $3.98 up. I don't know when I've seen such casual, easy, charming clothes for next to nothing!

NEW WAY FOR HAIR

Have you had your hair cut? World events have changed our hair-dos. It's the war, as the French word it. Women in Europe are too busy knitting for the boys at the front to take time out to muss curls. So, what have they done? They have adapted the easiest haircomb imaginable.

The Duchess of Windsor and the Duchess of Kent were the first to cut their hair. They went the whole way and had a shingle. I predict we'll all be doing it soon. Don't let the thought of running your comb through short hair scare you.

The new "short wave" has an effect of separate waves that curl. It reminds you of the comb waves of your youth, with its indentations forming definite patterns on your head. It has a sleek look without formality.

Fashion stores are promoting the new hair arrangement and their women are making it the main thing for their hair.

The hair may be cut or not depending upon its thickness and the necessity of a wide or narrow fringe for the face.

By the way, let your permanent be set in store. You can have the spring permanents in something. It's the progress of science, I guess.

But whatever it is, the new "perm" gives your hair a gloss and a look that we've been striving to get for years. It's the big reveal. And I'm a hair. I can't play a drum on the Common. I've really got pretty hair now. No more problems. It's actually becoming.

If you're tired of wearing the old side part, you might try bangs because they look adorable peeking out from under the new chapeaux. And the salons are featuring them.

HATS FOR ALL FACES
THIS YEAR

In the spring, a young lady's thoughts turn to a new hat. She has the field to choose from this year. There's a hat for every type of face. What's more, the hats are very accommodating. Most of them will stay on. Even when you're crossing the corner of Boylston and Tremont streets.

Your old stand-by, the Pork Pie, is on the scene again, but with variations. It's more like your boyfriend's than ever. Coconut straw direct from the Bahamas.

When you're feeling entirely feminine, there are the beau-catcher numbers that tie under your chin and trail in a crescendo of flowers.

Probably the most exciting news in the hat world is the so flatteringly, black white pique hat. Crisp as lettuce, it's destined to go the best of us on the smartest heads.

Your forehead emerges with the wide-brim hat. Up in the front and down in the back. It forms a halo to frame your angel face.

Twigs are still with us. They've become a dependable. Maybe it's because they're comfortable and becoming at the same time. But the shops are filled with them. It's a matter of paper in demand. There's practically a gap in your wardrobe.

If you don't own at least one turban, the wise gal matches her urban to her costume, and turns page heads for it.

You'll be a picture in the broad-brimmed chapeaux that are a this year favorite. There's really no holding the factory of a cart-wheel brim. When you don one, the glamour just turns on like a geyser.

Relax! Just don't try to resist the idea of owning a HUGE black hat. A big, big, black hat is so exactly what you need to crown the glorious witchery of your first back shaver. You'll dazzle your purser, and you'll find yourself actually glowing over your own loveliness every time you peek in a mirror.

HOW TO DRESS UP IF YOU STAY IN TOWN

Are you a town mouse?

If you're a city dweller who never goes any farther than the terminal, then you have a special kind of clothes problem.

Your favorite color scheme is black and white, because you've found it withstands the grime and grime of the city best, and keeps you looking snappy. Your second choice is beige, because it dovetails so ideally with everything black accessories, brown accessories, or whatever you heart desires. It goes to the office with you, takes you to lunch and is even right after-hours at an informal gathering. With white, you can wear it on a country-week-end.

The black waffle suit is going to be your uniform this summer. It's that easy! You can wear it as a sure changing blouse, or you can regard it as a two-piece dress. Sometimes you can try the skirt with another jacket. It'll work. So you are facile is yours for versatility.

If you take any exercise in town it's probably on a roof. We suggest a play-suit in white waffle pique. You'd be sure to score in tennis or badminton in the darling ones we saw.

For metropolitan duty, a wool box-coat serves night and day. It gives life to your wardrobe in bright red. Can be worn in the evening, or in the forenoon, over the faille skirt.

Your important-afternoon dress can be in wide rayon, jersey. See, how it has swept the country. And pull on long black gloves and a big, black picture hat.

Since gray has stopped being a matronly color, you can wear it without qualms in lovely, soft chiffon. It's neutral and nice with the red coat.

When you're entertaining in your in-town apartment, soft red or dinner gowns are good. They shouldn't be too formal because you're dwelling is probably on the small side and your company limited.

ed. So don't go overboard for fancy materials. Satene is good. It'll flatter you if you choose a tan stripe.

All of which does very well for the active lady in town.

Are you a country mouse?

If you're a farmarette, sporty sports clothes occupy most of the space in your wardrobe. Tweeds are your oldest friend. They take you practically everywhere. To the neighboring farm, the station to pick up your relatives, on a half course, and behind the wheel in the car. And you want good ones that will last year in and year out. So the plainer the suit, the better. No whims or quirky details.

When you do dress it's usually for the week-end. People out to the house for dinner. And you'll arrive your guests in silk-jeans. Most likely, the color will be a neutral pale cream.

For Sunday daytime in the country, you'll wear a glorified ankh-waist dress. And you'll have a corset to slip over it when a breeze comes up. As a matter of fact, cordigan will practically be your middle name, you'll wear one so often this year.

If you golf or garden, the most important thing is to have clothes that don't hamper free action. Patch-pockets are nice on the costume because they'll hold tools or a garden tool.

Your accessories are most apt to be in durable pigskin out where the cow is something more than a museum piece. Because it's so obviously durable.

When you live your life in the country, about the only time you can let your imagination run riot with your clothes is at dinner-time. Then you can go fancy.

THINGS TO REMEMBER SPRING BY

Things you'll remember the spring of 1940 by:

The long-torso silhouette with the whisper of a skirt that is straight and narrow.

Clothes that are pretty and feminine, with less emphasis on the chic and sophisticated note.

A dark-horse in the color race by the tag of brown.

Hats that sit firmly on the head via the calot crown that hugs the head.

Your forehead emerges with off-the-face hats.

You were able to let your back hair down and wear soft curls. The sides still stayed up.

Gray stopped being a sign of age. And youth began wearing it with a bang.

You were able to walk in comfort in wedgies.

Long socks, and bare knees.

Pinafore for play.

The apron came out of the kitchen and went on your best dress. Besides, you had a hat to match it.

Novelties to

Accessories make the costume still holds true.

There's no margin for error when you pick your accessories in patent leather. Besides, what's spring without it? Incomplete as salt without pepper. When it comes to pocketbooks, it's handsomest in big, pouchy things that hold everything, and still remain smart looking.

Patent leather shoes are nothing new, but there's nothing amatter. With belt and bag, they lend a powerful gloss to any costume.

Collar and cuffs are everywhere. Even on your suit coat, you'll use the lingerie touches. Little amacks of white next to your face do pretty things to your complexion.

If you don't wear a white collar round your neck, you must clasp a white choker of beads round your milky throat. The point being, a smack of white is a "must" on a dark costume this year.

You'll tuck a white hanky, man-fashion, in the breast pocket of your navy or black reefer.

Pique is kept busiest in the lingerie division. In, we might as well admit it, right here, pique is the great spring love. It's gone to

EVENING DRESSES ARE FRANK

You can dress frankly sentimental in the evening. If you're the love interest in somebody's life, yours will be the bouffant type of gown. It's nostalgically feminine, reminding you of Southern belles, and the perfume of honeysuckle. It's a style that spells conquest—gala for you. And that's not meant lightly.

It's adorable in cotton. Which by the way is going to be active morning, noon, and night. It's another cotton year, the stylists predict. If it's an Evening of Viennese Valses, you're starting out to, tulle is the thing. Nothing better for a waite than a gown of tulle with much frill.

If however, you're going out fearfully night-clubbing, with much swing thrown in, then we suggest the lush, luxuriant floral prints that are being shown. Or chiffon done in classic, Grecian lines that flow. Both of these trends are inclined toward the sophisticated.

On the other hand, if your mood is betwix and between, and you seek to combine the quaint with a dash of sophistication, you have not, marquette, or taffeta, to choose from.

Sleek jersey is also right for night-time. You can't avoid a dramatic entrance draped in its folds that cling so lovingly to the curves of your figure.

Now, if you're strictly the tall, thin woman, you can carry your theme right through to evening. They're appearing on the two floor in silk faille.

Your old faithful, the shirt-waist dress is being worn to formal dinners and on to the theatre and club. The blouse part is filmy, with long, flowing sleeves, and dancing skirts.

GAY ATTIRE IS STYLE FOR MEN

Never before have Men's Styles presented such gay attire for that he is the center of male. Suits and shirts, sports attire, neckties, from head to foot, Boston Stores have an array of Men's Wear colored with the most choice hues of the rainbow. I clumped a gorgeous collection of men's chambray shirts (other day in bright but not brilliant shades of blue, gray, pink, brown and yellow. Now, if you really want to make the boy friend stand out, buy him a yellow chambray shirt with a black knit tie with yellow stripes to wear with gray flannels and the sport coat. And on the subject of sport coats, have you seen the new jackets being shown? They are in light weight soft wools—made in shirt styles—with belted pockets, quite casual in appearance. These jackets come in soft shades of green and natural. Someone you love would love one.

And have you noticed the latest tie-clasp. Of all things, it is a clothes pin! Comes in metal of gold appearance and does a remarkable job of keeping the tie close to the man. And if he doesn't like it—you can always use it for the baby! Now that the vestless season is at hand, it's time to change the pattern of the tie. Bowties were never better in design and color. You gals can let yourselves go on color in this department and the boy friend won't be out of step. So come on, girls, while you are buying for yourself buy something for HIM.

CHECKS, PLAIDS IN NEW REEFERS
The reefer has become a tradition in clothes circles. The smart reefer this year is chic in checks and huge plaids. Other details that identify the coat as definitely nineteen forties are the scissor pleat back, the very high revers, and the snap pockets.

Speaking of checks and plaids, they're back with a vengeance this season. They appear in almost every kind of sports wear. Long coats, short jackets, and play clothes. Stripes are in the running, too, along with the classic polka dot which has increased to the size of quarters.

TARDINESS OF SPRING MEANS GOOD BARGAINS

Spring is a matter of personal opinion, we think. Although the calendar makers insist it arrives March 21, you and I know different. Haven't we found out so, this year, Mother Nature, woman that she is, is often slow in making up her mind.

In the meantime, our wallets are growing fatter for waiting for the warmer weather. But the stores were prepared for the debut of Mother Nature's favorite daughter, March 21. March 21, to be exact, it being Leap Year. (Or did you want to forget.) Anyhow—the point we're getting to is the stores are loaded with values. And reduced values at that.

As one prominent shoe man advertised, "Twas cold in January... it snowed in February... how it rained in March," so we're having a sale. And most of the stores are doing the same thing.

I never saw such a spring to shop for values! Maybe you are complaining about these east winds, but do it quietly. Because, really there's nothing like it for getting the really best spring outfit of your life at prices so low they leave you gasping.

So, when spring weather really does arrive don't let it catch you unawares. Mother Nature may do it over night, you know. And this famous daughter, of a very famous mother, is a very fashion-conscious season.

Our confidential advice to you is to act now because when the thermometer climbs, prices are apt to zoom. Don't say we didn't warn ya.

POCKETS AIDING GRACEFUL LINES

Pockets are filling an important space in the spring scene, this 1940. They're doing graceful things to that difficult front hip-line, cutting that broad expanse, and giving a narrow look.

HOSE TO BE DULL SHADES

Dull is the big news in hosiery. It gives your legs a loveliness that's so important in this 'age of daintiness.' The extra dull process makes for an even greater attractiveness. In fact, stockings today are paying your limbs big compliments. And you and I know that no matter how much care you pay to your wardrobe, men pay most attention to your stockings.

A pair of saddle shoes is almost indispensable to everyday life. Collegiates are not the only ones to relish them. About every fair citizen in the country has discovered their comfort. She tramps in them. They go sailing with her, they do her foot-work in the bowling alley, and the more soiled they become the greater she treasures them. It's a sign of service. Good service.

Did 'cha know you can really bend in the new girdles? Honest! You can live every hour of your life comfortably in them. You can work in them, play in them, dance, and relax. All the while looking marvelous and feeling divinely comfortable. They have high toppers that nip in the waist, firm your hips and lengthen your torso. You'll feel sleek and free as a bird in flight with this undercover technique. None of the old armor-plate technique. Just free and easy action.

What's more, you don't have to struggle and tug to get into these modern underthings. No losing your good disposition and breaking a treasured fingernail. Just zip and there it is.

Next week being National Notions Week, we've been thinking of some cute ones we've seen around town. One is a bag of a bag that is a zippered pouch of striped seersucker holding a tuffet umbrella.

Another whimsy is an itty-bitty pin money bag, hand carved of wood. Suggestion for a collage pad that we saw that might fall in the notion class is a belt and arm-bands set made of soft capekin. The choice is in violent colors.

Another item in the same class is of all things, a pipe lighter for your best beau. What will they have next? This same lighter will light your cigarette while your man puffs away at his cornucopia. A mere tip to the side produces a flame. Your stock will zoom in his estimation, if you're the giver of this original thought.

You can really have time on your hands, if that's your wish. Because jewellers are showing a unique timekeeper that lies hidden away in a big, chunky ring. Its face is covered so you won't break the crystal. It's all part of the covered-up look anyhow.

If you're a smoker of the new king size cigarettes, then you're needing a new case. You can find an outside at your favorite jewelry counter. And you can have your name scrawled on it.

COAT-DRESS CUTS OFF INCHES

Do you subtract well? The new dresses are very good at it. They subtract inches, horizontal inches. The best subtractor is the new coat-dress, cut along princess lines. And is it a time-saver? You put it on like a coat. No rumpled coiffures to re-arrange! It's a manna to all nine-to-five-commuters, better known as career girls.

This year, too, you're going to play in very, very, short, flirty skirt, more often than in shorts. And you'll be looking prettier for it. That is, most of us will. Woman's figure being what it is.

If you do wear shorts, but well, you'll wear them longer. Almost to the knee, and your socks will practically meet them. In fact, knees are going to be a part of the summer landscape.

Sun worshippers being a cult in California, the West Coast is way up on what is the proper thing to wear when you take your park under the sun. And Boston stores have imported the best of the West Coast sun togs.

GRAY, BROWN WIN APPLAUSE

Yesterday's taboos are today's triumphs. Grandma cringed at the thought of gray and brown together. Gray and Brown doing a sister act this year have won the applause of the gallery. In fact, Gray and Brown are the pennant colors for 1940, they're that popular.

Gray suit with carriage brown accessories is a fashion flash.

You'll win top honors at any spectator sport wearing such an ensemble. Brown accents with your gray Harris Tweed is another new thought.

The colors change to a minor key for prints and dress combinations, and become gray and yellow. The combination is refreshing as a mint in its newness, and just goes to prove there is something new under the sun.

GLAMOR LINGERIE STYLES

Slips should be seen and heard from this year. Saucy, swishy, rusty taffeta that whispers coyly as you pass people. They're a "must" under sheers, prints, and tissue wools.

The bottom ruffle will be seen under the hem of your frock. Or the camisole top will peek through your sheerest blouse. It'll remind you of your baby clothes when you see the lacy frills and ribbon beading that trim it. In fact, all lingerie has taken on a fancy look this year. Probably all part of the feminine movement in fashion. But the designers have certainly dreamed up some exquisite pieces. Slips, panties and gowns, all frosted in deep lace. All making you feel very much the lady of luxury and doing good things for your ego.

You'll be wanting to compete with the La Marr women for glamour. Matched sets are coming in threes now. Slip, nightie and pantie. The slip is camisole-top, the nightie old-fashioned with beading and ribbon at the waist, and the pantie frothy with rrou.

Lingerie now has redingote outfits. A nightie with a matching coat. My favorite has gathered bedices in sheer rayon crepe with much lace.

You can be old-fashioned in a housecoat, too. In fact, you'll look like a pretty picture from the family album in a deguerreotype silhouette in rusty taffeta.

If you want to look like a dream when you go to bed, there are gowns of fine rayon, sheer as a veil, but cool for the sultry summer nights. Or you may prefer a swirling striped batiste with eyelet embroidery and fussy bows.

Or if you're a gal who's definitely in favor of pajamas, then the butcher-boy type is yours for sheer comfort. The jacket is worn outside and is loose and roomy.

If you don't dress for breakfast, then say your "Good Mornings" in a dewy breakfast coat of striped rayon in sunny colors that are sure to cheer the whole family out of their morning mood. The coats usually boast something feminine like giant bows at the midriff.

Bed jackets are revived. They appeal to the old-fashioned woman. The one I took to my heart had a might of dash in it, though. It came in coin-dots with dainty eyelet embroidery at the neck. Paris brought in the bed jacket with all its talk about elegant modesty.

You can have a blouse for every day in the week. They're so easy on the budget. Tailored ones to proclaim your efficiency. Soft, delicate ones to accent your femininity. You have pique, batiste, dotted swiss, and oodles of other kinds of fabrics to choose from.

It's practically a blouse for every mood. The prettiest blouse I saw in the stores had the accent on the South, with a bit of the Civil War coquetry. Maybe it was the black velvet ribbon weaving its way through lace that won me.

And if you are interested in my personal choice, pique is runner up for my affections. Crisp as new bank notes, they give you that well-washed look that appears too seldom.

You should be fragrant with the scent of a spring bouquet, come this time of year. Light, floral, garden smells. Floral to the nth degree, with none of the headiness of a siren.

WOOLLY SHAWLS DUE FOR SUMMER

The lady with the shawl is not grandma. She's you. You're going to wear shawls after a fast set at tennis. Soft pastel woolly shawls. You'll wear them to town over your best suit. On big summer evenings you'll carry them to roof gardens to ward off drafts.

You'll flick them over your shoulder, tie them under your chin, or wear them girly fashion round your waist. But you will wear them. It's the South American influence.

RED FOR CHEEKS, LIPS AND NAILS

We don't mean with the flush of embarrassment. But with the accent of bright, young, clear-as-a-whistle red. Your lips, cheeks and nails should flash with the color that stops traffic. Every house of beauty has it under one title or another.

No more murky purples or wish-washy vague pinks. It's the season for patriotic red.

CONEY ISLAND

By OLGA L. ROSMANITH

WHEN Fred went away, he hadn't told Gwen he loved her, but she knew he did. It was in his constant desire for her company, his consideration for her, the tones of his voice, the ardent look in his eyes.

Gwen knew she was the only girl for him as he was the only man for her. She was impatient because she longed for him to speak of his love, but she was confident because she knew it was coming. A girl always knows. At least that's what Gwen thought Fred quietly let her.

And left his work, too, and his modest room without leaving any address. "He doesn't work here any more," the telephone operator at his office told her. Gwen was proud, but there was no harm in going to his room to see if he were ill. The landlady could tell her nothing except that he had packed and gone suddenly. His rent was paid up but she hadn't yet touched his room. She let Gwen look 'round it. She found a letter he had begun crumpled up in the wastebasket. "Dear Gwen: Think the best of me you can—"

The Cast of Characters in "Coney Island"

GWEN, who is in love with FRED, and awaits his proposal, so is surprised and hurt when he seemingly disappears from the earth.

All she could think of him was that she loved him terribly and she was broken-hearted.

Sally tried to cheer her up. Sally had been Gwen's best friend through high school and now they shared a small apartment and earned their livings. Sally was a well-paid operator in a suburban beauty salon. Gwen modeled fashions for commercial photography. Sally's boy friend was a motor salesman. He was doing very well and they talked of getting married in a very short time. It had been a very happy set-up before Fred disappeared. Sally kept saying, "What's the matter with the guy? Why doesn't he say something?" Gwen hadn't worried. She had been so sure it was going to be all right.

Now she tried to keep quiet about her suffering because she didn't want to depress the others. But sometimes the fears, the craving, the suspense that gnawed at her heart were too much to bear in silence. "Oh Sally, if I only knew why. If I only knew what had happened to him!"

"MINK ON MISERY" Sally had a forthright practical nature. "Why don't you call on his old boss and ask if he got into trouble of some kind?"

Gwen shuddered. "I couldn't possibly—"

Sally called up in her lunch hour. The boss was out but the telephone operator was talkative. No, there had been no trouble about Mr. Morris. No one knew where he went, but everyone had liked him.

Fred turned a violent red when he saw Gwen and dropped the plate.

She took the good news home to Gwen. Then Gwen went into her room, got into bed and cried herself to sleep again. The cameraman told her that late nights were spoiling her looks and it was no use taking shots next morning. He said, meaningly, "Better pull up before you're washed up altogether. The customers don't want to see mink on misery." It was a warning. Sally warned her, too. "You'll lose your job if you stop looking glamorous. It's tough I know, but you'll have to look happy if it kills you."

George was having supper with them. It was his private opinion that Fred had found another girl and lacked the courage to tell Gwen. He said, "Tell you what. Let's all go to Coney Island on Sunday."

"What? All that crowd?" said Gwen. "Oh, no, I'm not in the mood. I couldn't bear it."

"Do you good," said George. "Lively human people enjoying themselves without inhibitions. Do us all good. I'm looking forward to it."

Sally was agreeable. Gwen went with them.

George called for them in the morning. He was in high spirits after a record week. "Hope you're feeling strong girls. We're going to try everything."

Gwen practiced smiling before the mirror. It didn't look convincing, but she owed it to them for their loyalty—making her a third to share their pleasure. Sally squeezed her arm as they set out. "Good kid, but don't make your face stiff with it." She had to laugh. The first time since Fred vanished.

The ocean breeze was cool. The beach swarmed with bathers and the boardwalk swarmed with people. Gwen saw only the girls and boys in love, arms linked, laughing and looking into each other's eyes.

"IT'S HIM"

George spoke to her, got no reply looked at her face, cursed Fred silently and said, louder: "Let's go to the water chute. It's years since I tried it!"

For an hour of thrills and laughter Gwen almost forgot her heart was broken. George insisted on sampling the side shows. Sally announced that the next thing must be food. She got tired if she got too hungry.

George looked about for an appetizing hot-dog stand. Then he drew Sally aside and whispered in her ear. She looked and whispered back: "Yes, I'm sure it's him."

"Then let's get out of this before she sees. I'll come back and talk to him next week."

They took Gwen, one by each arm, and hustled her through the crowd without ceremony. Gwen went willingly, glad they had not seen what she had seen while they whispered together: Fred Morris, in a white coat, serving hot dogs across a lunch counter in rapid, expert succession. It can't be him, was her first horrified thought. But it was. Fred was not the type to be easily confused with somebody else. Gwen sat on a high stool between George and Sally, unaware of what she was eating. Her heart was in a turmoil. Fred—in a white coat—serving hot dogs at a lunch wagon on Coney Island!

It seemed now that the day would never end. George and Sally were tireless in their efforts to keep her smiling. In gratitude she smiled for them. It was a relief at last to be alone in the familiar quietness of her bedroom. Back in the city it was too hot to sleep. Gwen took sheets and pillow and propped herself up on the fire escape. The stars were faint and misty through the blue haze of heat obscuring the sky. Gwen lay staring at them wakeful-eyed. Shall I let him know I saw him? Shall I ask him for an explanation? What did he mean in that letter he was going to write? Think the best of me you can. The air got a little cooler past midnight. Gwen brought her pillow back into the room lay on the bed and went to sleep.

Monday was a dreadful day. Hot and stifling. Waiting for cents and cups for endless takes in the studio. A day to be wiped out with a cool shower a salad for supper and rest in a wrapper at home. Gwen could hardly wait till she was through to take the subway to Coney Island. Never mind what Fred wished.

"YOU, GWEN!"

The cool ocean air revived her. She walked to the shore slowly, wondering if she had dreamed what she had seen. But she had not. The crowd was thinner. Fred was there, in a white coat as the day before, but busy enough. Cool, competent and good tempered. Gwen approached, taking cover behind the moving people until she sat on a stool before him. He turned a violent red when he saw her and dropped the plate he was holding. "You, Gwen! I thought you never came to Coney Island."

She said with quiet bitterness: "Why not? This is a world in which anything can happen."

"I'll be relieved in a few minutes," he said. "Haven't wait I'll tell you everything."

She ate while she waited, noting the stern look on his young face while he went on with his work. She thought that he has been through something, too. Then they were on the Board Walk in the dusk, jostled by the evening crowd.

"I lost my job a long time before I left, Gwen. No excuse, I just wasn't cut out for it. I tried desperately hard for another. One that would do you credit. So that I could ask you, Gwen. That last week was a nightmare you were earning so much and I hadn't the money to take you to a movie. In the end I decided to take anything I could get to keep going till my luck turned. It was this. I couldn't bring myself to let you know I was a failure. Maybe I was wrong. But you don't think straight when your heart's breaking. Anyhow, I went—"

Gwen bit her lip to keep back tears. She slipped her arm through his. "You're not a failure. You're fine to do this cheerfully instead of borrowing from your friends. What's wrong with it anyway? Presidents have done worse. With character like this, you'll find the place you fit and nothing will hold you down."

He halted and stared at her. His face transfigured. "Honest, Gwen? You mean it?"

"With all my heart."

He seized her and kissed her and their suffering was wiped out. The crowd parted and walked around them, smiling, accustomed to such demonstrations.

"Goodness!" exclaimed Gwen. "Stop! All these people—"

He laughed, tucked her hand under his arm, pressed it against his side. She could feel his heart beating near it as they walked on.

THE END

Don't miss Charles McGuirk's thrilling story on this page to-morrow. It is called "The Wedding Dress."

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

THOSE WHO ARRIVED a bit early to watch the finish of the Marathon just beyond Copple square, had an opportunity to see one of the outstanding brides of the season drive by in a limousine with her beaming bridegroom . . . for the wedding of Abigail Aldrich to Robert Tappan Hamlin took place in Trinity Church a half afternoon today . . .

Befitting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Aldrich of Brookline, and niece of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller of New York, elaborate decorations, a large bridal party and a lavish wedding breakfast at the Aldrich home added to the festivity of the occasion . . .

Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving officiated before a shower of Regal lilies and the pews were filled with the colors of Annunciation lilies and larkspur . . . The bride's gown of white tulle had floated flounces, a short train and white tulle lace veil caught with a small white velvet bow . . . She carried a white prayer book with a spray of tiny orchids and lilies of the valley on the ribbon . . .

Bride Has Nine Attendants

ATTRACTIVE SUBJECTS for a color photography enthusiast were the nine attendants, gowned in white organza with long full sleeves and trimming of French blue picot ribbon . . . They were off-the-face white organza hats trimmed with the blue ribbon and carried large bouquets of pink carnations . . . In the group were Mrs. P. Stokes Guther, matron of honor, Frances E. Turner, Margaret H. Turner, Anne M. Mixer, Helena Edgell, Alice Burrage, Mrs. Charles W. Hubbard, 3d, all of Boston, Eloise Berglund of Wilmington, Del., and Mrs. Turner McBaine of San Francisco . . .

Hovland S. Warren was best man and a prominent group of young Bostonians served as ushers . . .

A distinctive costume of Aubergine crepe with an ankle length pleated skirt and large lace hat to match was worn by the bride's mother, and Mrs. Robert M. Tappan, aunt of the bridegroom, received with the bridal party in Pervanche blue crepe with a navy and rose flowered straw hat . . .

Leaving on the first lap of her honeymoon trip to Bermuda, Abigail changed into a navy blue outfit trimmed with paler blue . . . Her bridegroom, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Peabody Hamlin, is a Harvard '32 graduate and belongs to Tennis and Racquet and other fashionable clubs . . . They will live at 29 Edgehill road, Brookline . . .

Socialites Flock to Auction

IT TAKES A HEAP of buying at auctions to make a home, yet those who attended the auction sale for the benefit of the Lowthorpe School of Architecture yesterday could get practically everything but the four walls and the roof . . . Mrs. Hugh Bancroft went home with yards of gold brocade fabric under her arm and her daughter, Mrs. William C. Cox, acquired some choice little pieces of chinaware . . . A marble fireplace mantel, etchings, big garden urns and old silver all came under the auctioneer's gavel and helped the worthy cause along by bringing in extra dollars . . .

Very busy behind the scenes was Mrs. Robert Choate, modishly dressed in gray with a kidskin jacket and gray wings on a small close-fitting hat . . . Mrs. Reginald Foster, Jr., one of the eager bidders, was taken by surprise when she made the only bid for a pair of massive marble topped tables, but cheerfully paid her fee and arranged to have them delivered today . . . She wore a navy blue outfit topped by a dashing felt with a rolled brim and red band . . . Mrs. John S. Ames, Mrs. George Putnam, in soft blue tweed from head to toe, Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Jr., and Mrs. John Cunningham were others bidding vociferously when some object under the gavel caught their fancy.

Highly enthusiastic over seeing their first Ballet were the four little youngsters with Mrs. Frederick Dabney, and Mrs. Lela Curtis was accompanied by her sub-deb daughter, Fanny. PAUL REVERE WARNS OF BRITISH APPROACH
Honor His Memory Today, But Don't Wish Him Back

IN A HAPPIER AGE, it would be worth while, on an anniversary of Paul Revere's historic ride from Charlestown to Lexington, to imagine the famous patriot's coming back to earth and taking his place among us.

But today, with suffering so rife and so large a part of the world in turmoil, no one will wish the militant Colonist out of his peaceful tomb.

There would be too much to worry him at home and far too much to annoy him abroad.

Where is the man so lacking in sympathy who would ask Paul Revere to attempt to understand the man-made depression that keeps ten million men jobless and wageless in a country abundantly supplied with too much of everything?

Gold would naturally interest Paul Revere, for during his lifetime he was a worker of precious metals.

Yet could he possibly be expected to comprehend the New Deal program of buying the world's gold for a price far above its actual value only to bury billions of dollars' worth of the yellow bullion in a hole in the ground?

Men of Paul Revere's day were schooled in the kind of arithmetic that says two and two make four, and two from four leaves two.

Would anybody be so heartless as to oblige him or a contemporary to grasp the Roosevelt mathematics which contends that the more the government spends the more the government has to spend?

OF COURSE, some things might be easier for Paul Revere to perceive.

Having been the man destined to herald the approach of George the Third's troops more than a century and a half ago, he would not have to be told the British are here now.

His discerning eye and vigilant ear would detect their propaganda quickly, not only in lecture halls but in radio studios, schools, colleges and wherever Americans and their pocketbooks congregate.

To his greater astonishment, he would probably further detect Nazis, Fascists, Communist and heaven-knows-what from "over there," each striving to "put his message across" in the hope of involving the generally envied United States in the mess abroad.

Nor would Paul Revere's sojourn be happier if he altered his course and went to Washington instead of to Lexington.

There, he would find the unimaginative American Congress continuing its usual occupation of free-handed spending for the aggrandizement of New Deal politicians and bureaucrats.

He would note with warranted perplexity that the sole economy being practiced is where the SAFETY and SECURITY of the American people are concerned.

He would make the disturbing discovery that FIFTY-SEVEN new planes are all that Congress thinks ought to be built for the further protection of one hundred and thirty million people.

He would meet Senators and Representatives so blissfully blind to realities that they could see nothing in records that show Poland was made helpless overnight by airplanes, that Finland was brought to its knees by airplanes, that Norway was invaded and occupied by airplanes, that Denmark was incapable of defense against them.

And, quite logically, Paul Revere might ask:

"How safe do you think you and your country would be in a similar situation with only FIFTY-SEVEN new planes per year?"

NO, DO NOT WISH Paul Revere back from the restful oblivion of the grave. Be satisfied merely to honor his memory.

He and his contemporary Americans died content in the knowledge that theirs was a winning cause; that subservience to European wills and wiles was being banished from this free land for all time.

He would not relish finding the America of 1940 dangerously headed in an opposite direction.

Seventh Heaven

I DON'T see why folks aren't content . . . to live in a nice tenement . . . On hot nights they can make their bed . . . on doorsteps, while stars overhead . . . shine down upon them, and it seems . . . must bring them many pleasant dreams.

And only a few miles away . . . there is a park and wading pool . . . where happy slum children can play . . . and even on hot days, keep cool.

Also in alleys all around . . . dead cats and things are often found . . . And what is more, I'm told that rents . . . are very low in tenements.

MY DAY

WASHINGTON, April 19—Life has been lived rather rapidly since my return.

I suddenly realized today that I had forgotten to mention the riot of daffodils in the garden between the White House and the President's office.

The Magnolia trees are out and the grass is beautifully green and, though we haven't seen much sun, spring is really here.

THE PRESIDENT is journeying to Warm Springs, Ga., where the air will be even balmer. He had intended to take this trip while I was away, but these days one can never tell from day to day what one may be doing.

Now he hopes for a few days in Georgia to catch up on many of his interests there and to have a little rest, but I shall have to stay around here and fulfill a number of engagements which have been made.

I shall, however, have time to go to Hyde Park and, though they tell me it is still winter there, I am going to think about the garden.

My trip to Philadelphia was rather a satisfactory experience. On the train I drew all the checks for bills which have been piling up on my desk and reminding me that I must sometime have a little writing session.

MRS. HENRY MORGENTHAU, JR.

Tours With Mrs. Roosevelt

The luncheon was pleasant, for I saw a number of people whom I enjoyed seeing again. Then I went in for a minute to greet the Philadelphia motion picture preview study group at their luncheon. I spent a half hour afterward with Mrs. Curtin Winsor and her two children. My grandson, Bill, is getting to be a big boy and in a year plans to take his little brother riding. On the way back on the train.

I started to read the manuscript of a book I hope I can finish within the next few days. I was home in plenty of time to prepare for dinner.

I went down this morning with Mrs. Morgenthau and Miss Hickok to see a preview of a "March of Time" movie. On the whole it is good. It deals with the situation of youth, which is perhaps the most difficult problem to show accurately, because it must run the gamut from complete despair to ever renewed hope.

WE THEN visited the Unemployment Compensation Bureau and the minimum wage and hour offices of the District of Columbia for the Democratic Digest. There is no District of Columbia labor department and it seems to be sadly needed.

Sometimes I should like to be able to report that something I had seen in the District was absolutely perfect! Alas, I can not do so, for there is a woeful lack of safety for workers in local industries, evidenced by the fact that the accident rates are much higher than for other similar occupations throughout the country.

On the Side

WHEN ASKED about Greenland and its relation to foreign policy of United States, President Roosevelt said that before making a statement he was going to brush up on the Monroe Doctrine. I did a little brushing up on this myself last night and I found the following excerpt interesting: "The Monroe Doctrine has never been expressed in a treaty or act of Congress, but its underlying principles are recognized as the permanent policy of the United States. The original Monroe Doctrine has been much altered and enlarged in public statements made by Presidents and Secretaries of State."

IRENE RICH is the country's leading exponent of the "Frankly Forty" idea. Irene broke into the movies as an actress when, left with two small children to support, she went to a studio to get a job as an office worker. Just recently she bought some property on which to build a house and when the contractors started to work they struck oil . . . Dr. Alfredo Trinchieri, of Italy's diplomatic corps, speaks English with a southern accent. Asked to explain this he said: "I guess it is because I married a girl from Kentucky."

"WOULD a story 'Westbrook Pegler Bites Dog' be news?" asks a student of journalism . . . Bitterly reacting to male criticism of figures of women who insist on parading beaches in scanty bathing suits, a female reader comments on certain men bathers as follows:

Men with knobby knees
And hairy apish chests
Look ever so much better
Wearing coats and pants and vests.

"YOU SPOKE of a couple married 16 years before their first baby came," writes a feminine client. "We were married 18 years before our first blessed event. Is that a record?" Very unusual, lady, but not the record. There's Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who had been married 19 years before she became a mother.

I AM ASKED to aid a campaign for birth control of dogs. Campaigners say all puppies of mongrels should be humanely destroyed except one. I cannot conscientiously join this campaign but I will give wholehearted support to campaigns calling for birth control of fleas, mosquitoes, flies, spiders and rats.

WHAT WOULD be a fair hour and wage scale for domestic help? Perhaps if this were straightened out the difficulty in obtaining domestic aid would decrease. In Switzerland legalized hours for domestic help are 14 hours a day, with two hours' rest and time off for meals. Five free afternoons of four hours each and one of eight hours each month and compensation for overtime. After one year's service a two weeks' vacation with wages and full board.

Teddy Hart

Broadway Medley

EASY SPELLING LURES "JUDGE" HART

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, April 19—Teddy Hart, the actor, went to Loew's State to be one of the talent judges for Jimmy Walker's Opportunity Hour . . . When all the contestants had completed their routines, Teddy slowly and carefully wrote his decision on the piece of paper given to him . . . "Why did you vote for Dolan?" he was asked later . . . "Because," was Teddy's frank confession, "his was the easiest name to spell."

MISTAKE: At the opening of the pari-mutuels at Jamaica, a group of curious New Yorkers who never had seen the mutual machines in operation, were taken on a tour of inspection. One of them spoke to an employee working at the $10 window. He pointed to the sponge these men use to moisten their fingers in counting the bills . . . "What's that sponge used for?" the curious one asked . . . "That's what we use to rap on the window," he was told, "when a customer forgets his change."

TIME: William Woodward, chairman of the Jockey Club, gave a dinner a few days ago for some of his colleagues. At these dinners the guests usually are punctual. But Herbert Bayard Swope was late . . . Jock Whitney, seated next to Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, looked at his watch and said: "It's 8:40 now. Swope's 40 minutes late" . . . "I'll bet he's on the phone," said Vanderbilt . . . "Yes," agreed Whitney, "and I'll bet he's phoning the Governor" . . . Five minutes later Swope arrived and apologized for being late. "I was on the telephone," he explained. "I spoke to the Governor."

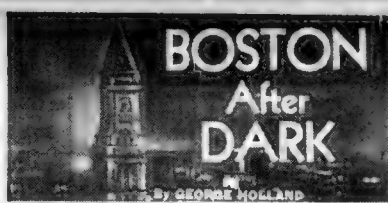

SUCCESS: Adelaide Moffett, working on at Armando's, netted more than $1,000 for her first week there.

PRACTICE: Sharkey, the seal in "Higher and Higher," received rave notices from the drama critics. Its big scene is the one where it crawls behind Jack Haley, and nudges him in the seat . . . Although Sharkey is a veteran vaudevillian, it still must submit to daily practice. And so each night, before the show goes on, its haughty trainer puts the seal through a climbing and ball balancing routine, turns around for Sharkey to practice the Haley bit, leaps at the touch and then rewards it with a fish and a cry of "Very good, very good."

DISCOVERY: Zac Freedman toured Harlem in search of a band for his place. At the Elks Rendezvous he discovered just the band he wanted . . . "I'm going to hire you," he told the band leader, "and maybe some day you'll become another Callaway or Duke Ellington" . . . "We'll work hard," the band leader vowed . . . "And when you're famous remember who discovered you," Freedman continued. "Will you remember who discovered you?" . . . Yes, sir," he was assured. "You discovered me" . . . "Good," said Freedman, preparing the contracts. "What's your name?" . . . "Columbus," the band leader informed, "Christopher Columbus."

MISS MOFFETT

TOM WHITE OF NEWTON—the Tom White in Republican circles—has said the equivalent of "no, thank you" in response to an offer of a juicy plum in the state service . . . Whether Mr. White's "thank you" was uttered in a spirit of cordiality or bitterness is the current subject of considerable debate . . . As Disraeli to more than one ranking Republican, including, of course, his chief, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Mr. White of Newton was deeply interested in the elevation to the bench of Judge Jacob Spiegel, reports have it.

JUDGE SPIEGEL GHOST-WROTE MUCH of Senator's Lodge's campaign material, and was a handy young man for the Saltonstall headquarters to have in the next room . . . Both Senator Lodge and Mr. White (who serves nominally as "Cabot's" No. 1 Secretary while acting mainly as "counselor-in-chief"), had hoped that Atty. Spiegel would win the recent vacancy on the municipal bench . . . Instead, the job of legal advisor to the state assessing board was offered the Republican essayist . . . The compromise saw the Boston attorney accepting a special justice's seat . . . Judge Spiegel is "sitting" a great deal of the time, but the job is not regarded as a first-flight appointment in political assays. So-o-o!

WE ARE TOLD THAT both the young senator and his elderly sage were disappointed . . . The column's guess is that Mr. White's refusal of a much-sought commissionership was an expression of disinterest—and not an act of pique . . . Yet from widespread knowledge of the situation the widest rumors are afoot . . . One is that Senator Lodge would campaign throughout the West this year for the G. O. P. presidential nominee and neglect his own state and the Saltonstall race for re-election . . . This corner cannot authoritatively scotch his tale, but a guess—based partly on testimony heard at the Suffolk County Young Republicans party at the Parker House this morning—is that harmony will prevail this Fall . . . The S. C. Young Republicans, incidentally, were so successful with their first Patriots' Day Eve ball that the event will be an institution. And the club, fastest-growing political unit in the state, has become an institution already—in less than a year . . . Young Alexander Welsh is the moving force.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY. The writing Vanderbilt, Cornelius, Jr., was among those applauding Joe E. Lewis at the Mayfair's supper show . . . The Mayfair will hold a "Special Joe E. Lewis Night" Sunday, by the way, and if the affair clicks on par with the management's hopes, a policy of "Sunday night with the stars" will have been begun . . . The Boston Newspapermen's Benevolent Association's seventh annual Frolics will cause George M. Cohan to break a rule of twenty-years' habit . . . The author-star of "The Return of the Vagabond," who shies from an after-hours public appearance with all his might, will be there—at the Copley-Plaza Wednesday next—and probably saying a word or two, or singing twelve or sixteen bars of one of his songs (not "Over There").

DOWNNEY (MARGARET) AND MEYERS (MICKY) is a new firm of Boston press-agents . . . Miss Downney is an alumnae of the newspaper business and Emmanuel College . . . The Meyers half of the partnership is a "miss", too—a Smith grad . . . Bobby

Hollywood Today

ANOTHER ROLE FOR BETTE DAVIS

By Louella O. Parsons

Bette Davis

HOLLYWOOD, April 19—One hundred thousand dollars is a big sum to pay for two books which are yet to achieve readers' interest. Yet Hal Wallis was elated today because Jack Warner was able to buy "Mr. Skeppington," by Elizabeth and, "King's Row," by Henry Bellamann for this really record-breaking amount. When I walked into Hal's office he had the laudatory book reviews on his desk and also the statement that "Mr. Skeppington," by the author of "Enchanted April"—best seller of some years ago—was the book of the month.

"Mr. Skeppington" is intended for Bette Davis and "King's Row" for James Cagney and John Garfield. Interesting the way the Hollywood market has swerved toward books since the phenomenal success of "Gone With the Wind," "My Son, My Son," "Rebecca" and "Grapes of Wrath." The producers are finding that the paying customers read this new fiction and that it is already established before the picture is put on the screen.

VIRGINIA FIELD

furniture for Dickie's new mansion, which, of course, she will occupy soon; Lana Turner's hair is now a dark red.

RICARDO CORTEZ is fighting the flu and George Raft is sick with a cold and unable to report at the studio; Rose (Mrs. Harry) Cohn, back in Hollywood after a year's absence and looking like a million. She was at Eddie Robinson's tea and just about everyone in town was there. Nice to see Harry Lachman back after his long absence. Chia, he told me, was home sick.

THE BARON DE MEYERS photographs on exhibit are not new to Hollywood since many of us have the picture of Mary Pickford taken some time ago. Even more interesting than the photographic exhibition were the Robinson paintings which range from Picassos to Rembrandts. It's probably the largest and most mixed collection of modern and old masterpieces in Hollywood; Hunt Hall, one of the "Dead End" kids, and Jean Francis, an Earl Carroll beauty, are afloat; Reggie Gardiner is leaving the Hollywood belles desolate while he goes East on a personal appearance tour; Lucille Ball received ten dozen roses—count them—today from her boy friend, Al Hall, just because she started work on a new picture.

FRANK CAPRA leaves for Dallas today and returns Monday; Tony Martin and Jean Frazee, of the Allice singers at Victor Hugg's together. This is where Alice Faye and Tony Martin first met and they just avoided meeting each other again by two minutes; Carl Laemmle, Jr., escorting Mary Rogers and Helen Fortescue Reynolds to Slapsie Maxie's.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

THE tall young man was suffering. All day his thoughts had turned to her. Now, at last, when he stood at her side and sought but a single word, a smile, she seemed entirely unconscious of his presence.

She was so dainty, so fragile; he yearned to crush her to his heart. Past experience had taught him that this was not the way. He'd done it once, swept on a tide of ecstatic love and she had wept. Wept bitter scalding tears.

SHE neither knew, nor cared that he was near. She tossed the fair ringlets on her forehead in nonchalant disdain. She eyed her hands. Those hands. So soft—the pink tipped fingers gently curved—so careless of their grasp upon his heart.

"Ah, won't you say it? Try to, do," he pleaded vainly in her rose ear. She raised her eyes to his adoring ones but dropped them almost at once to pluck thoughtfully at invisible dust upon her snowy dress.

The first time he had seen her she'd been all in white. She was younger then, of course, but showed a budding loveliness that promised much.

Surely she could not forget the hours they'd spent together since that day. The nights that he had held her in his arms and whispered dreams and plans for a future that would bless them both.

AND THEN she smiled. Smiled and gave him the word he'd longed to hear. "Beth, Beth," he cried joyously, "come here quick, the baby just called me dada!"

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

"REMEMBER! in the end God will not look you over for medals, for degrees, for diplomas, but for scars."

There's a sentence that will change the whole course of your life if you have the courage to apply it. It was written by Clarence Paul McClelland, president of MacMurray College, in a brief but amazing book called "Question Marks and Exclamation Points."

IT'S based on a story you must have loved if you were a youngster back in the 80s or 90s—old "Pilgrim's Progress." And it concerns the last speech of Mr. Valiant-for-Truth. All his life he had fought lustily for Right as he saw it. But now the trail dipped into the shadows and the call had come. So, turning, he said—

"My sword I give to him that shall succeed me in my pilgrimage and my courage and skill to him that can get it. My marks and scars I carry with me, to be a witness for me, that I have fought His battles Who now will be my rewarder."

That Passage is not the truth of one man any more than Pilgrim's Progress is the story of a particular group of seekers and freighters. It is the truth of all life—whether it be Christian life or pagan life—WE WILL ALL BE JUDGED BY OUR SCARS.

Sooner or later life—and God—catch up with us all. Sooner or later, in the silence of a lonely hour we feel a tap on our shoulder and there is the Judgment Day.

SO YOU CAN take it or leave it, friend—everybody, including the Almighty, has your number. And if you want to rate you'll run the risks—and take the beating—and wear the marks of a Regular Guy. Or go down through the stars as slapsie.

Pinafore Play Things

JUST remember that things aren't always what they seem...that in spite of an Arctic April that seems to promise cold forever after, there really will soon be beautiful, hot, lazy days on the beach or in your own backyard, where you can sip tea or hang up clothes wearing your favorite garment, a shorts set! In May Good Housekeeping we discovered this fresh and exciting version of the idea...a demure Alice in Wonderland pinafore covering the tailored shorts outfit! The shirt is solid color, but the shorts match the pinafore. —ANNICE BRINK.

Egg Timbale Recipe That Pleases

1 tsp. shortening
1 tsp. flour
2 1/2 cup of milk
4 eggs, separated

1 tsp. minced parsley
Make a cream sauce with shortening, flour and milk. Beat the whites of four eggs stiff, and the yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Pour the hot cream sauce over the yolks, add minced parsley, salt and a dash of cayenne and of nutmeg. Fold in the whites and turn into buttered molds set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a slow oven (300 deg. F.) until firm, about 35 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce.

Gas Avenges Wife's Murder

RAWLINS, Wyo., April 19 (INS)—The lethal gas chamber at the Wyoming penitentiary claimed its second victim as Stanley S. Lantzer, 38, wife slayer, walked calmly to death today.

Lantzer had a wan smile on his lips as a guard blindfolded him. Muttering prayers, the condemned man then walked with a firm step down the 15-foot corridor to the steel death chamber. Before the door swung shut, Lantzer called for Rev. William Young of Brush, and said:

"Kiss me, brother."

The minister kissed him and left the chamber. Two minutes and ten seconds after the deadly gas began generating Dr. C. W. Jeffrey pronounced Lantzer dead.

FASHIONABLE young society girls who are always willing to lend a helping hand to worthy causes include Mary Elizabeth Sears and Lucy Cochrane, left to right, photographed at a recent committee meeting. Miss Sears, who is studying art, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sears and Miss Cochrane's mother is Mrs. Dudley Pickman.

Announcement of Birth

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I With you please suggest some of the card is to announce the birth of a child. Something simple. Don't you consider, the usual type found in the stores a bit flowery?

Will be our second child. A son after the birth should the cards be sent out?

F. J. It is a problem to buy the simple announcement card that we would like to use for this important announcement. But there are simple ones to be bought, and I'm sure you can find them, especially since you live so near a metropolitan shopping center. I like the all-white ones best, with spaces only for the Mr. and Mrs. names, the baby's name and the date of birth.

If you and your husband have Mr. and Mrs. cards, they are perfect to use for this announcement. The tiny baby-card is attached to the top of this, with narrow white ribbon. On the baby-card is engraved the baby's name.

The birth-announcement cards are sent out as soon as is convenient.

Home and Kitchen

By MARTHA LEE

AN EGG A DAY for each person in your family, so say the health authorities. And, too, they can be called the cook's standby. How often we bless them when unexpected company arrives and we shake up an omelet or make a fancy "poach" in no time. Now that they are so inexpensive they will naturally appear often on our tables as plain or fancy eggs, but all the year round we must have our daily egg. Give eggs a good break in your menus and you will be giving your family a good break, too.

Because egg whites become tough at boiling temperature, and therefore harder to digest, we recommend that they never be boiled.

For the so-called "soft-boiled" eggs keep the water just below the boiling point at simmering. Place eggs in cold water, bring to simmering point (185 degrees F.) and cover; remove from heat and allow to stand in the water.

How long they should stand must be learned by experience, since it will depend on the size of the eggs, how cold they are, how many are being cooked in the pan and the degree of cooking the individual prefers. Poached and shirred eggs, though cooked by a different method, also belong to the soft-cooked class.

CHEESE MUSHROOM SOUFFLE

3 tbsp. shortening
4 tbsp. flour

1 cup cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup American cheese
3 eggs, separated

Blend shortening with flour. When it bubbles, add ready-to-serve cream of mushroom soup, and cook until smooth and thick. Add cheese, finely cut. When it is melted, cool and add the well beaten yolks of the eggs, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour in a well greased baking dish, stand in a pan of hot water and bake 50 to 60 minutes in a slow oven (325 deg. F.).

POACHED EGGS WITH CURRY SAUCE

1 tbsp. shortening
1/2 small onion, minced
1 tsp. flour
1 tsp. curry powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 egg yolk
1 tbsp. cream

6 eggs

1 cup stock or water

Melt the fat, add the minced onion and saute until brown. Add the flour and curry powder and mix thoroughly. Add the stock or water. Cook until the mixture thickens and is smooth. Add salt and pepper. Meanwhile poach 6 eggs and place on rounds of buttered toast. Add to the curry sauce, the egg yolk and cream beaten together, and pour the sauce over the eggs. Serve at once.

BAKED OR SHIRRED EGGS

Butter an egg shirrer or individual baking dish. Cover bottom and sides with fine cracker crumbs. Break an egg into a cup and carefully slip into shirrer. Cover with seasoned buttered crumbs, arrange shirrers on tin plate or cookie sheet, and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) until white is firm and crumbs brown.

Engaged to a 'Tightwad'

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

THE MAN I'm engaged to is five years older than I am. I'm 21. At first I was very happy, but now it dawns on me that I have let myself become engaged to a tightwad.

He never takes me to a play or a movie, never even gives me a box of candy or a few flowers, and he always talking about the joys of saving.

I make a fair salary, live home with my mother and father and have always had control of my own earnings. When I happened to mention a pretty church wedding my boy friend became uneasy over the thoughts of such expense. My family call him a tightwad, and I'm beginning to think they are right.

From what you've written, me of this gentleman. I think your chances of being happy with him are very slim.

You Can Be Beautiful

Here's Buy in Striking Lipstick

By ARLINE GOULD

WE'RE JUST lucky enough, every now and then, as we go about the business of covering the beauty front in town, to discover some of those marvelous "while they last" items which might not be announced in the regular channels.

Sometimes it's a matter of not being on hand to really check about the extraordinary special price... sometimes it is a disappointment of a bottle or container which though lovely has proved itself not too efficient, so you can have the marvels it contains at a "let's get rid of these mistakes" containers' price, and they're merely stacked on the counter where by chance they might catch a foraging, sharpened eye.

We're sure there was no mistake made when the stunning square lipstick case was designed, but for some reason or other it is going to be sold for half-price until the present stock is gone... a $1.25 gold-plated square lipstick for 65¢!

Amazingly enough, all the new-as-tomorrow lipstick colors in this line are available in the square lipstick case... which looks like a precious, minute cigarette lighter by Tiffany.

It is engine turned and won't tarnish... and you can get credit for it ad infinitum. It's nice enough to deserve having your initials engraved somewhere on it.

Harking back to the lipstick you may have... we would put our money on a marvelous system, so softly flattering for any face... the exact color of rose-pink clove blossoms and amells just as sweetly!

If you'd like to learn about this highly unusual "while they last" group of gold-plated square lipsticks, regularly $1.25, selling for 65¢, and including new high-fashioning lip tints, phone Arline Gould, Liberty 4000, any weekday except Saturday, until 5:30, or write enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope!

Martin Pattern

Pattern 9354 may be ordered only in most sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14, waist requires 2 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric and short sleeve blouse, 1 1/2 yards contrast.

Revere Rides Again; 'Preparedness' Is Cry

Dawes' role was taken by Sergt. Melvin S. Welsh, both of the 110th Cavalry, Massachusetts National Guard.

OVER HISTORIC ROUTES

Both riders started from the historic sites of hallowed patriotic memory. Revere from North sq., where Mayor Tobin presided at memorial exercises, and Dawes from Elliot sq., Roxbury, where Governor Saltonstall, with his daughter, Susan, surrounded by military aides, lent a martial air to the ceremonies.

Dawes was handed his message in Elliot sq. by Dennis Driscoll, 59-year-old G. A. R. veteran and accompanied on the early stages of his ride by an escort from the 110th Cavalry.

Shortly afterwards the 15th annual 3-mile road race of the Norfolk House was started by Sheriff Frederick R. Sullivan.

Mayor Tobin handed Revere his message at the North sq. starting point and then delivered a short address pregnant with reminders of America's reminders from the last war and warnings to embrace gratefully the peace that is now this nation's fortune.

UBGUES CALMNESS

"Let us give the situation cool and calm consideration," he said, in a warning against war mongering. "Let us fight only when the dignity of our nation is so offended that fighting is the only answer."

On the issue of democratic survival versus war the mayor stated:

"We have the greatest government on earth. I doubt if we become embroiled in another world controversy if we hand down to succeeding generations the pure democracy we now have."

The only incident to mar the holiday which saw the most beautiful day of spring beckoning thousands to various celebrations was vandalism in Elliot sq. during the night.

VANDALS WRECK STAND

The bandstand set up by the city was moved and almost completely wrecked and workers had to do a rush job to have it back in place and ready for the morning's activities.

Police said they had taken four young men into custody for drunkenness and would arraign them in court tomorrow on charges of maliciously destroying city property.

The glaze for the historic re-enactment was set in symbolic fashion when Mary Louise Revere Auerhamer, 12, great-great-granddaughter of Paul Revere hung two lanterns in the belfry of the Old North Church.

Shaking with excitement, the girl nevertheless gripped the lanterns as firmly as they may have been held by the sexton of Boston's oldest house of worship 165 years ago. It was the signal which sent her forebear on his famous ride.

The governor complimented the American Legion for the slogan of its 22d annual convention in Boston this fall, "Keep us out by being ready."

Exercises in Boston today opened at 9 a. m. with a flag raising at City Hall, led by Mayor Tobin.

After ceremonies there, a stately parade escorted the mayor and other officials to North sq. Brief exercises were held in Old Granary Burying Ground and King's Chapel Burying Ground.

FIRE GUN SALUTES

At Concord, gun salutes were fired at daybreak to open day long celebrations, while from Lexington, boys and girls marched to the historic Green, where Capt. John Parker and his gallant band of Minute Men challenged the British.

Cambridge, Medford, Arlington, Somerville and Brookline participated in elaborate programs, timed to coincide with the arrival in each city of Paul Revere and William Dawes.

The traditional program of sports, entertainment and oratory was a highlight in all the towns on the historic route.

At Lexington, there was the ringing of bells and the blowing of the fire whistle 1-7-7-3. A marathon race and track meet was held in the morning before Revere and Dawes were welcomed at the Battle Green.

In the Medford parade, Commander Felix F. Nazzaro of the Mystic Valley Chapter, D. A. V., served as chief marshal. The Minute Men memorial was decorated. A Patriotic Day ball was scheduled for the evening.

Japs Execute 100 Chinese in Revenge

SHANGHAI, April 19 (INS)—Japanese troops executed at least 100 Chinese villagers and farmers and burned the village of Chui-chien, about 10 miles from Shanghai on Soochow creek, it was reported today.

The executions and burning of the village were said to have been revenge measures taken to offset the recent victory of a Chinese fourth army battalion which struck in a surprise attack and vanquished Japanese survivors of the attack and wounded are still coming in to Shanghai.

DOCTOR FINDS HOW SILVER KILLS GERMS

PHILADELPHIA, April 15 (AP)—Discovery of the secret of the ability of silver to kill germs was announced to the American Philosophical Society today. Silver is widely used to sterilize drinking water supplies.

The discovery proved that a single atom of silver can kill a living cell, despite the fact that the cell is as much bigger than the atom of silver as Mt. Everest is larger than a mouse. Germs usually consist of cell structures and die the same as the yeast cells on which the lethal power of silver was shown.

The report was made by Dr. Alexander Goetz, associate professor of physics, California Institute of Technology, Pasadena. Scientists had believed that anywhere from one million to 10 million atoms of silver were needed to kill a germ.

Dr. Goetz diluted silver nitrate until the solution contained only one trillionth of a gram of the metal. This still left more than 5,000,000 atoms of silver in a cubic centimeter of the solution.

He then diluted yeast cells in pure water until he had a solution containing about 5,000,000 of these living cells. The 5,000,000 silver atoms were then shot at the yeast cells like machine gun bullets. The silver atom gun was a very fine tube, through which the silver bits were blown by air.

The rate of killing, Dr. Goetz said, proved that a single atom of silver killed any healthy yeast cell it struck.

'Dr. Cyclops' Film Thrills and Amuses Met Audiences

Characters Are Doll Size

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Dr. Cyclops," a "scare" picture in the sense that it hardly measures up to its Titan buildup, is a picture that has raised with laughs and a few opening-show audiences at the Metropolitan demonstration.

A first feature, Dr. Cyclops is a picture that has raised with laughs and a few opening-show audiences at the Metropolitan demonstration.

A first feature, Dr. Cyclops is a picture that has raised with laughs and a few opening-show audiences at the Metropolitan demonstration.

MARY BETH HUGHES plays a top role in "Star Dust," second feature at the Metropolitan, where "Dr. Cyclops" is the feature.

By the use of radium from a large, abandoned mine he has succeeded in reducing his servant's bones to puppy size. Just in the nick of time, his preposterously summoned aides arrive to carry him to some more monstrous scientific lengths. Herding them into his cavernous laboratory, he locks them in and proceeds to "shrink" them to doll dimensions. But for all his cunning skill, he is unable to control their brain power, which is magnified as their stature decreases.

To say these foot-high creatures, in their pinhead-handkerchief shifts, on entering the monumental door by holding in his lunch box when he first the underbrush is thrown away, unbolting a pair of scissors to use as weapons, jabbing him peacefully with his own pen, is somewhat for the story's patent inadequacies.

A huge chink in the doctor's armor is his greatly impaired eyesight, requiring the use of highly magnifying glasses. The belittled magnifying to switch glasses, condemning the giant to virtual blindness.

This footage until the flagrantly unethical scientist plummets into his bottomless well, at the hands of his human guinea pigs, fails to present as swiftly or inventively as it might. However, rarely has there been such unanimous and hearty audience reaction at the sudden passing of a villain.

The second feature, "Star Dust," is a new Hollywood's newest young director, Lelia Darnell, and John Payne.

Slate Brothers Star at Boston

Vaultville fans held a regular old-time celebration at the RKO Boston first show yesterday to welcome back the always amusing Slate brothers and to give a big warm hand to others not so well known.

The three Slaters had the big audience clamoring for more of their clowning and eccentric dancing. By way of musical interlude, and an intermission for the tired out laughter, the attractive Fay Carroll sings "Right and Day." Another act with a rare variety of music, from new tracks to old harmonizing, is provided by the Kidoodlers, who have been doing some of the best novelty stunts on the air. The crowd enjoyed everything from straight dances through the old barber shop numbers and the animals' serenades in "Old MacDonald Had a Farm."

Paul Winchell, world's youngest ventriloquist, is assisted by the dapper Fred Jeff, who sings and imitates Donald Duck. More singing is featured and highly polished in the Kathleen Evans' Trio act, with Miss Byrne as soloist and her mother and father, two vaudeville veterans, come in to sing and dance. The first act of all the too.

Lamer and Hudson mix comedy and some skillful bike riding. Then to give the bill a little extra elan Larry French and his hand play a routine "Deviland" overture.

On the screen are "North Sea Patrol," with the British navy on parade, and a new Gene Autry Western, "Rancho Grande," D. W.

'IT'S A DATE,' 7TH DEANNA DURBIN HIT, HELD AT KEITH'S

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, APRIL 19, 1940

Ballet Gives Modern Items

At the halfway mark in its local engagement at the Opera House, the Ballet Russe went definitely modern last evening with the presentation of "Ghost Town" and "Rouge et Noir," two of the newest additions to the famed group's repertory.

In marked contrast to them both was the evening's opening number, the classic "Les Sylphides" with the lovely Irina Baronova performing. Baronova's excellent miming ability and her perfect technique supported by the dancing of Nini Theilade and Nathalie Krassovska to Chopin melodies make this ballet an unforgettable memory.

"Ghost Town" is a simple story of the once affluent mining town with all the familiar western clichés. But the rollicking good nature and abandon of Dick Rodgers' music sent the audience out in a jovial mood.

Markova was the consummate artist in "Rouge et Noir." The program notes were marvelously abstract with Man, Woman, Destiny and Forces represented by dancing groups of different colors. But we deserted such orthodoxy and enjoyed ourselves thoroughly by imagining the blacks and WALTER PIGEON and Deanna Durbin provide plenty of love interest in "It's a Date," held over for a second week at the Keith Memorial.

Young Star Never Better

"It's a Date," Deanna Durbin's seventh starring picture, has been thrumming Keith Memorial where it is being held over a second week. Also a headliner is the second feature, "Viva Coco-Kid" with Cesar Romero again playing O. Henry's lovable outlaw. New feature on the bill is "America's Youth—1940," cross-section glimpse of tomorrow's citizens.

The little Durbin, who has grown up to be a young lady on the screen most gracefully, was never lovelier than in "It's a Date," in which Kay Francis and Walter Pidgeon head her supporting cast. Miss Francis plays Deanna's handsome mother, a famous actress. Pidgeon finds himself in the disconcerting position of having the young daughter imagine he is in love with her while actually it has been love at first sight of the fascinating mama.

The matter of an important starring role in a forthcoming Broadway production, a role which has been offered to the veteran actress as well as to her stagestruck daughter, complicates things at first but really solves the problem eventually for all concerned.

Blanche Calloway At Boston Sunday

Blanche Calloway, the talented Cab's talented sister, and her band of masculine swingers and entertainers will hold a red-hot Harlem session on the BKO Boston stage for Sunday performances only.

This single day engagement is to be an added feature to the regular stage and screen show. Headlining the former are the Three Slave Brothers and the Kidnappers and the screen attractions are "North Sea Patrol," and Gene Autry in "Rancho Grande."

Normandie Offers New Features

"The Shop Around the Corner," are the Normandie screen features, and "Brother Rat and a Baby," live.

BOSTON AFTER DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

Ahern, also a graduate Boston newspaperman, sat next to Dave Wilson in the Narragansett press turrett in yesterday's drizzle... Having jumped from California to Boston in the interest of Collier's Eye, Bobby will take in the New York card (at Jamaica) tomorrow... On Monday, he's off for the coast again.

RUBY FOOS GIFT to her handsome son, Earle, who became a bridegroom at Boston City Hall in an impetuous ceremony which saw the five-day law waived, is a share in the Ruby Foo Den at the World's Fair... Earle married a dainty Chinese girl whom he met while quaiting in Shanghai throughout the bombing of two years past... Her name was Helen Irene Goon, and Earle's name on the marriage certificate is Earle Matheson Shong... As the lad is the son of Ruby and her first and only husband, it became evident that the "Foo" made nationally famous by Ruby is a professional name.

MARGIE HART was informed by courier—a miracle-man courier if he was able to "crash" the backstage precincts of the Old Howard—that Jane Pickens' newest number at the Pension Room, in the sedate Hotel Plaza, Manhattan, is a song about what the Metropolitan Opera House needs... And what the M. O. H. needs, according to the Pickens ditty, is a disrobure a la Margie Hart... Miss Hart, indeed, found the notion most intriguing... "But now," she inquired of the Coplan (who was on the heels of the aforementioned courier) "do you think my voice would carry at the Met?"

P.S.—How does that word "disrobure" strike your fancy? The column offers it as a possibly passing synonym for the blatantly blunt, "strip-tease."

This Is a Story With a Point!

ELGIN, Ill., April 19 (AP)—Another needle has been removed from Elgin's human pin cushion.

Mrs. Beulah Kemp, 33, said the needle removed yesterday from her abdominal region by Dr. J. C. Byers was the 12th extracted in 23 years.

The needles, about an inch long, are of the type used in old-fashioned phonographs. Mrs. Kemp said she doesn't know how she acquired them but that they have been extracted from various parts of the body after sharp pains announced their presence.

Maine WPA Workers Facing Dismissal

PORTLAND, Me., April 19—WPA workers at several projects in eastern and northern Maine today faced dismissal as State Administrator John C. Fitzgerald checked municipalities for possible failure to meet sponsorship contribution requirements.

Some 25 workers in Eastport and Lubec have already been dropped because the towns fathers have not contributed 25 per cent of the cost of the projects, Fitzgerald said.

Msgr. Burke Opposes Moving Liquor Store

Opposition to transfer of a liquor package store from Massachusetts ave. to Center st., Jamaica Plain, was on record today with the Boston Licensing Board.

Monignor Francis A. Burke of the Blessed Sacrament Church, among others, sent a letter of objection, declaring there were already enough liquor places in the Center st. district.

SCHMITZ HEADS BOARD

Walter A. Schmitz, business manager of a Quincy newspaper, today headed a new planning board in Quincy after his appointment by Mayor Thomas S. Burgin. Other members are Frederick E. Ahern, Harry H. Kane, Henry H. Pierce and Deleware King.

Old Colony Value Cut 'Substantially'

Reduction in the assessed value of railway property of the Old Colony railroad in Quincy, announced by Nathan G. Nickerson, chairman of the Quincy Board of Assessors, was described today officially as "substantial."

Chairman Nickerson refused to divulge the exact amount of the reduction but pointed out that the line has sought some form of tax relief for years.

Fenway Fannies: An Ode To Baseball's Ladies

EVERY OTHER FRIDAY EXCEPT THIS FRIDAY will be Ladies' Day at Fenway Park, when our distaff citizens will be admitted on their smiles. But today is Opening Day with the Red Sox freshly pomaded and pressed about the pants, and the politicians and military in festooned boxes, and floral horse-shoes, like those seen at rich gangsters' funerals, being presented to Joe Cronin, bands tooting and the National banner being raised. So the ladies will be asked, just this once, to drop their fares in the box and sit among the male population as equals.

AUSTEN LAKE

The ladies are among our best sport clients these days and may be observed any afternoon or evening, wherever there is wrestling, a business fight, a ball game or a horse race. There were a large portion of these, our most charming citizens, sprinkled around the Garden the other evening when the National amateur fighters chopped each other up. And, as far as the eye could see, none of them were lugged out by the first-aid crews which the management had stationed at the end of the aisles in case some client should choke on a flask cork or faint at the sight of blood. The ladies stood the sanguinary sight like gentlemen!

The Ladies Were Timid at First

I THINK IT WAS BOB QUINN WHO FIRST conceived the notion that it would be good for the baseball business to let ladies come gratis to his park. Bob was promoting the St. Louis Browns at the time and the vast, naked sections in his stands were a source of great ache to his eyes. The male population of St. Louis, then as now, regarded the Browns as no treat and insisted they could witness better contests in any grocery store league. So they stayed away in large droves.

So Bob opened the gates of his park one day each week and invited the ladies to bring their sewing and sit in the most expensive seats at no cost to themselves.

Don't mistake! Bob had a motive in doing this which was something else than sheer love of the ladies. He thought the ladies, with their propensity for babbling, might glorify his stumblfoot athletes, and maybe excite other ladies, not to mention gentlemen, to come on paydays. And presently it would open up a hitherto untapped field to the ball business.

I have heard Bob tell how they came sparsely and a trifle timidly at first, because that was the semi-barbarian day when the ball players fanned each day with their fists and sometimes climbed into the customer sections to poke some heckler, or said such language out loud as no lady likes to pretend she is acquainted with the exact meanings.

Mrs. Toye Tried to Organize Them

WELL QUINN BROUGHT HIS LADIES' DAY IDEA to Boston and the other ball firms were quick to copy the novelty. So presently the ladies in all 16 cities were stacking their soiled dishes in kitchen sinks and leaving the linen for an extra soak while they shovelled off for the ball yard.

In one or two parks, like Chicago, they have stormed the box office in such hordes that the management had to hire extra sweeping crews to collect bits of shredded lingerie and female fripperies which had been clawed off. And finally the Cubs had to advertise, in self-defense, that the ladies would have to apply by mail for the limited 20,000 seats and then roped them off in segregated sections where they could not hammer the paying patrons over the ears with handbags during emotional foamings over a pop fly.

But elsewhere the ladies have formed an enthusiastic and pictorial addition to our whiskey masses, and have paid back the ball firms for free admission by such screams and hysterics as you never heard like the like. And I recall how, in Quinn's raggedy Red Sox day, it was a happy interlude in the week's blasphemy by the hairy sex when Ladies' Day rolled around, and Quinn's inept adolescents were treated like victorious heroes with nests of robins in their hair. The old Red Sox seldom heard a kind word except on Fridays.

FOXX, CRAMER, DI MAG COMBINE TO BEAT A'S

DESAUTELS SAFE AT HOME ON CRAMER'S HIT IN FIFTH

By JOE CASHMAN

FENWAY PARK, Boston, April 19—Our undefeated Red Sox came home this morning to chalk up their third straight victory of the season as they opened their Fenway campaign with a 7 to 6 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics.

A crowd of 7100 cash customers and several hundred invited guests, including first-ball-thrower Gov. Everett Saiton, saw a tilt which kept everybody on the edge of his seat for two hours and a half as the contending clubs exchanged leads.

The Hose had Jimmy Foxx, Dom DiMaggio, "Doc" Cramer to thank for their victory. This trio collaborated in knocking in all seven Boston runs to bring victory to Joe Heving, who relieved the starting Jack Wilson in the sixth.

DIMAG DOUBLES

Foxx, making his initial, regular-season appearance as Home captain, manufactured the first Sox marker when he christened the new right field bullpen with his second home run in as many days at the expense of George Caster in the third stanza. Later on, Jeems rescued another run with a long fly.

DiMag, playing his first championship game here, doubled in the sixth to chase two tallies which gave the natives a lead they never lost.

As it turned out, though, it was Cramer who struck the most timely blows for, after knocking in a run to tie the score at two-all in the third, "Doc" came through with an eighth-inning single which fashioned two more markers.

That second Cramer blow off rookie Lefty Besse, made the score 7 to 4, but it proved to be the clincher. The Macks, held hitless by Heving up to that point, bunched two hits and a walk for two tallies in the ninth.

In fact, they had the tying run on first with one out when Caster Brucker obligingly hit into a double play roller to Boss Joe Cronin.

SOX TWIN KILLINGS

Incidentally, twin-killings did much to save the Boston bacon, the Hose infield coming up with three in tight spots.

Wilson didn't have his stuff and lacked control with result that the A's jumped into a two-run lead in the second.

These first runs made against Fenway during this season registered by virtue of a two-base miff by Cronin of a Bob Johnson pop, a single by Earl Seibert, who collected four of the A's eight blows, and successfully walks to Al Rubeling, Bill Lillard and George Caster. The first of the Sox twin-killings prevented further trouble.

Getting one of these runs back when Foxx homered, the Tawkey reemen went in front in the fifth by putting over two tallies without the aid of a hit.

ADVANCE ON WILD TOSSES

Desautels walked. Wilson bunted and both hands were safe when Caster threw wild to second in an effort to complete a force play. DiMag moved both runners up a base with a sacrifice, and on a Cramer tap to short Desautels beat Lillard's throw to the plate. Williams walked, filling the bases, and Foxx hit a long fly to left.

Wilson couldn't stand prosperity. Seibert opened the A's sixth with his third straight single and raced to third as Brucker singled. A resulting fly knotted the count. Lillard kept the rally alive by bunting out a slow roller, and Caster singled to bring in another run. So when Black Jack threw two straight balls to Benny McCoy, sent hostile batter, he was waved

JIMMY FOXX looks as if he will continue to set the batting pace for the Red Sox despite the threats of Ted Williams and Dominic DiMaggio. Double X proved he is back in home run form again when he got a circuit smash against the Senators with two on.

Foxx played remarkably good baseball last season, and despite occasional kickups of an old sinus condition the great slugger has shown well this year.

Joe Cronin is once more batting behind Foxx. The Sox manager once tried young Ted Williams in this spot. Williams was frank in admitting that after watching Foxx do his stuff he lost some of his own confidence. Ted either pressed too much, or permitted his mind to dwell so much on Foxx's batting effort that he neglected to do any hitting himself.

Batting in No. 3 position Williams follows Doc Cramer, while Dominic DiMaggio has been given the lead off honor.

Cramer has been batting exceptionally well for so early in the season. With Williams and DiMaggio in the outfield with him, Doc is smart enough to realize the Sox have gone youth minded. He also saw Joe Vosmik shuffled off to Brooklyn because he has lost some of his speed.

Cramer is still a great outfielder, while he usually bats in the .300 class. Doc should be a steady influence on Williams and DiMaggio.

During the present home stay of the Sox, the fans will be able to get a good line on Williams and DiMaggio. Williams is more of a known quantity than DiMaggio, but it is expected that Dominic will prove he is entitled to a regular berth.

Athletics Come Up With a Better Club

CONNIE MACK has been rebuilding the Athletics for several years, and believes he has finally got something. The A's divided their two-game series with the Yankees, and have come to Boston confident in their ability to take part of the spoils.

The schedule makers treated the Red Sox with a little kindness in giving them the Senators and Athletics as their first two opponents. Joe Cronin will have an opportunity to get his club going smoothly before being called upon to clash with the Yanks.

While not predicting that the Red Sox will win the pennant this year, Cronin will keep shooting away at the world's champions with all of his power. If other clubs follow the Cronin lead, the Yanks will at least have to fight down to the wire if they are to win the American league pennant again this year. There have been too many clubs letting down when they have been opposing the Yanks. These clubs have been beaten before the games started.

Joe Cronin piloted the Red Sox to five straight victories over the Yanks in New York last summer. That sweep showed that with ability and fighting spirit a club can conquer the world's champions.

The ball clubs are rooting for more favorable weather. A few warm days would enable the players to cut loose at top speed.

Pat Horgan Takes in the Races

PAT HORGAN, who is rated with the country's leading racing secretaries, dropped into the press box at Narragansett Park. Pat talked baseball instead of racing.

"Hub Purdue, who used to pitch for the Braves was probably the poorest hitter in baseball during his period," said Pat. "One day during a game in New Orleans Hub, by some miracle, got three hits. 'Just a natural hitter,' remarked the pitcher when his teammates complimented him on his feat."

Purdue couldn't even bunt. The Braves once had a special bat made for Hub. It was almost as big as a telegraph pole, and it was felt that the ball couldn't get past it. Hub was then sent up to bunt, and missed three balls.

While Purdue was with New Orleans, Cotton Knappe played shortstop. Cotton was very much off form one day, and three balls went through his legs.

Purdue walked over to Cotton, and without raising the tone of his voice said:

"Cotton, why don't you field a few balls for a change of pace?"

Wants to Fight

Blockade Stops Max

BERLIN (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, would like to fight Joe Louis again of the pesky British would let him through the blockade.

Schmeling, tough and known a bet nut, dropped in at the Foreign Correspondents' Club on the weekly "American Night" to chat about the 10 trips he made to the United States between 1928 and 1939 to whip or be whipped by the outstanding fighters of that dozen years, when he was almost a contender and once a champion.

"I should like to fight him," said Schmeling. "I know better how he fights than anybody."

But Schmeling, who beat Louis once and then took no awful drubbing in return, has no great hopes of meeting the Negro boxer again, what with a war standing squarely in his path.

"The British would take me off the boat," he said, making a gesture with his big hand to imitate a giant Britisher plucking him off the sports deck of the Conte Di Savoia at Gibraltar.

Although he is 34—a ripe middle age for boxers—Schmeling hasn't given up the sport. This summer he will fight his fellow German, Walter Neusel, with his own European championship at stake against Neusel's German title-of the war permits.

He is keeping himself in good condition, and looks it. When on his estate in Pommerania on the Baltic coast, he runs about the countryside three or four miles and while in Berlin he takes vigorous setting up exercises every day. He is a model of clean living. He has not smoked since he was 11 and does not drink.

ARMSTRONG BEST EVER

Championship fist fights in Boston have been few and far between and the 15-round collision between Hammering Henry Armstrong, king of the world's 177-pounders, and sturdy challenger Paul Junior next Friday night at the Garden will be the first in eight years.

In Armstrong the Hub fight followers will see one of the greatest ring men of all times, a throw-back to the good old days and one of the truest champions the boxing industry has known.

Armstrong has the ability to meet and beat all comers and that's why he does not hesitate to place his crown on the counter against any challenger.

HOLD 3 TITLES AT ONCE

Along with holding the record strings for consecutive wins and consecutive knockouts, Armstrong is the first in history to hold three titles concurrently. Recently he missed announcing a fourth championship when held to a draw by Middleweight Champion Cefredo Garcia, whom Armstrong spotted 12 pounds.

The Black Blitzkrieg is expected in Boston tomorrow night or early Sunday and will train at local gyms four days next week.

Alexander Seeking Berth

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Meet 53-year-old Grover Cleveland Alexander, who's still in there pitching.

True, he's not in the big time any more, but the suspicion is that he's showing a lot more courage now than when he was sprinkling his name liberally through baseball's record books as the sometimes ace and always colorful hurler of the Phillies, the Cubs and the Cards through 19 years of major league competition.

But Grover, lot of the big time since 1930, is doing a personal appearance stand that for sheer duration would turn most actors given with envy. He got a job a year ago in January at a 42nd st. nickelodeon that was to last three weeks—and he's still there.

Sure, he'd like to get back in baseball, as his pathetic note to a local columnist and an advertisement in a trade journal shows. But the tear-jerking sob-story that old Grover is broke and gaunt and playing second fiddle to a bunch of trained fleas doesn't ring exactly true.

LIKES BOSS

Neatly-dressed, clear-eyed and erect he climbed off the basement platform where he makes dozens of three-minute talks a day about himself and baseball and made the interviewer at home in a tiny, well-kept alcove. The floor parred occasionally as the neighborly lady sword swallower bounced iron cutlasses on the floor to show the folks "they ain't faked."

"Yes, I'd like to get back in baseball," Grover said, "if there's a place for me. But I don't feel that the game owes me a living. They paid me well when I was up there."

"I'm working for a nice guy here. He lets me off to see the games and they treat me swell. I've made a lot of mistakes. I guess, but who hasn't? And that idea of me being sick is out. I never spent a day in a hospital in my life."

The toughest part of his job is "sitting around the joint between shows," and the toughest part of his act is answering "fool questions."

FOOLISH QUESTIONS

"They ask me if Hubbell is going to win 20 or if Grove is going to have a big year or if Keller will be better than I was."

Baseball enters another year and the Fellers and the Di Maggios are the talk of the town. But down where Broadway turns honky-tonk, the man who pitched four one-hit games in 1915, who has third lowest all-time earned run average in the majors and whose pitching feats put him in Cooperstown's Hall of Fame is "living off the fleas."

"It's better'n having 'em live off you," he says.

EAGLES DUEL RAMS AT HEIGHTS TODAY

If old Sol appeared and worked hard enough to dry out the Alumni Field diamond this morning Boston College was to open its baseball season against Fordham this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The diamond contest between Eagles and Rams is an annual Patriots' Day feature.

Fred Leahy, curve ball control man from Somerville, was to start on the mound for the locals against the New York nine co-captained by Brockton's Dom Principe and footballer Bill Krywicki.

The Fordham chucker, though was to be sophomore Ed Alexander. Veteran Gene Bowe is being saved for an encounter which the Rams have with Holy Cross tomorrow at Worcester.

Coach Fred Maguire of the home forces announced that his starting lineup, with the exception of sophomore Bob "Bucky" Harris of Watertown, will replace Jack Callahan of Dorchester at third base, would be the same as was scheduled to take the field last Saturday against Northeastern. Rain interfering with the contest and it had to be cancelled.

Capt. Frank "Bunzo" Burns who plays center field and wields a potent plate weapon is one of five letter winners of last year's campaign who is to start this afternoon. Harris at third base.

Tom Dawson at shortstop and Frank Davis in center field are sophomores tasting their first varsity competition. Jim "Bullet" Byrne, first string catcher, ineligible most of last year, won a letter in '38.

of seconds behind the record for the 10 miles distance.

Brown, Henneke and Wicklund were jogging 25 yards behind the leaders coming into Natick.

Freddy McGlone was back 140 yards, running alone.

Natick sq. was jammed with a crowd of race enthusiasts. Chief of Police Thomas P. Evans and his force of 16 regular officers and five reserve men kept the course clear and guarded the rope barriers.

At Wellesley, Brown had pulled into the lead, Kelley, Rankin and Pawson were close behind in that order. Cote had dropped to fifth place.

BROWN BEATS OWN MARK

Brown's time was one hour, nine minutes, 24 and four-fifths seconds better than his mark of last year.

Wellesley college girls were out in force to cheer the Indian runner as he made his successful bid for No. 1 position.

Henneke, Wicklund, Mike Mansulla of the Brockton Y. M. C. A., McGlone and Donato were next after the bunched-up group headed by Brown.

Before he took the lead in Wellesley, Brown had seemed content for a while to let Cote, Rankin, Kelley and Pawson set the pace. Tarzan loped easily along about 50 yards behind them.

CLINGS TO SCANT LEAD

But when he put the pressure on he overhauled the front runners without turning a hair.

His lead through Wellesley was a precarious one, however, measured in feet and inches, not in yards.

At Auburndale, as the runners faced the grueling Newton hills, Brown then had dropped slightly behind again. He was in third place, close behind Kely. In the lead, by a narrow margin, was Robert "Scotty" Rankin, Canadian Marathon champion. He wore the colors of the South Waterloo Harriers of Preston, Can.

Dengis' Widow Sobs at Race

As the crack of a pistol started the field of runners in today's Marathon, a woman stood at the starting line, tears streaming down her face and her body shaken by sobs.

She was Mrs. Pat Dengis, widow of the former national and Pan-American champion, killed in a plane crash near Baltimore last December.

She remarked to friends that she had come from Baltimore to Hopkinton specially to see the start of today's race, the first in seven years in which her Pat has not been a contestant.

away from there in favor of Heving who came in to walk the $45,000 free agent, filling the sacks, before he fanned Wally Moses and retired Chapman.

That fine bit of fire-extinguishing pepped up the Sox no end.

DOM DOUBLES

So Doerr opened the home half with a single. He was forced by Tabor Finney, batting for Desautels, fouled out, but Heving singled, putting the issue up to DiMaggio. Dom lined a double to right center, scoring both base runners as the crowd went wild.

Lefty Besse, just in from the Southern Association, replaced Caster at the start of the seventh and retired the side in order but in the eighth he was found for a single by Doerr, walks to Peacock and DiMag and finally the all-important two-run single by Cramer.

Heving's first walk put Moses on base, starting the pinch. After the leader had been forced by Shapman, Bob Johnson doubled off the left field wall and Seibert produced his fourth single.

The Sox made three errors and the Macks committed a brace of miscues. Four of the five, though, were excusable, being caused by the unfamiliar morning sun getting into his players' eyes.

Emerson Dickman was due to go to the home bill when the Sox sought to run their undefeated string to four straight in the afternoon game, starting at 3:30.

'WHADDAYA SAY ABOUT OUR PITCHING NOW?'

"HIYA SCRIBES"
Joe Cronin seems to be hollering. "What do you think of our pitching now?" He'd have a right to brag, too, what with the Sox unbeaten in first 3 starts. Sox were home today to meet A's in double-header.

SLICK RECEIVER—
Gene Desautels doesn't hit like Williams or Foxx, but he does a fine job behind the bat. He caught both Grove and Bagoy as they shut out the Senators. Gene's a Holy Cross grad.

Marathoners Hold All Eyes on Route

Waiting for the start of the race, scores of the less well known runners made the most of the warm sunshine, lounging in the lee of Lucky Rock Manor and getting the chill out of their muscles.

More elaborate preparations were made by the popular favorites. Most of them were under care of their trainers and managers inside the Manor house, where the air was heavy with odors of oil of wintergreen and liniment.

Ellison "Tarzan" Brown, last year's winner and all-time record setter for the course, was having coconut oil rubbed into his leg muscles.

"Nothing like it to loosen you up," he commented.

His trainer, Rico Frederico, and his manager, Frank Morone, watched over him like a jealous mother hen over a newly-hatched chick.

Tarzan was the big favorite among the younger fry who thronged the vicinity of the start.

Brown made a picturesque appearance in red and yellow running pants and jacket. He was surrounded by boy fans who wanted his autograph. Brown said his wife and two children were at home, in Westley, N. Y., sitting by the radio. Mrs. Brown has never seen her husband run in the B. A. A. grind.

more numerous today than ever before. At the start candid camera wielders were a dozen deep all about the scene. Bicycle riders were out in unprecedented number.

When Tarzan Brown stripped off his jacket, he was seen to be wearing a white racing jersey lettered with the name of his home city, Westley, and his No. 1.

Saddest entry of all was Albert Min'el of Clinton when he learned he was the lone contestant rejected by the official doctors.

Oldest challenger, William Kennedy, 56, of the Chippewa Club, Yonkers, N. Y., broke away smartly, then wisely eased to a jog after the first mile. Kennedy won the marathon in 1917.

Youngest entry was Litchie Karl Devine, 17-year-old Amherst freshman.

Patrolman Fred Wegerdt of the Wellesley police force, that town's enthusiastic marathon fan, hasn't missed a race since 1897 and was at his station in Wellesley sq. today to witness his 43d successive road classic. He can name off-hand the principal marathon runners since the event was first established.

Amateur Deep Sea Fishermen All Set to Make Seasonal Debut

By DARK MONTREAL

Amateur deep sea fishermen herabouts were all set, at last report, to make their seasonal debut today aboard the sturdy little diesel schooner Lois Corkum, out of T wharf.

Skipper Bill Corkum, a salt water sailor, man and boy, for more than 50 of his 70-odd years, claimed he'd shove off, however cold the weather, so long as the harbor didn't freeze or driving rain dampen the enthusiasm of his customers.

Members of the heave and haul fraternity who had to work today are planning on taking their first 1940 whack at the haddock, cod and pollock this coming Sunday. That'll be the Lois Corkum's next scheduled trip. Her bigger and more commodious competitor, the steamer Myrtle, won't be running until Memorial Day, brings assurance of warmer sunshine, milder skies and bigger crowds.

Kilby Osborne of Wellesley, who ties flies for a hobby when he can't go a-fishing, has just evolved a feathered lure he thinks will be sure death to stripers and pollock and maybe bad news, too, to lake trout and salmon.

The K. O. fly (herby named for Kilby Osborne) is plenty scarce enough in appearance to scare fish to death, if not to fool 'em. Eddie Farrell of Bob Smith's who has seen the thing, says it has a silver body as big as a peanut and a spray of feathers like feeders extending from its nose. The feathers are orange and white, just at present, but Osborne is experimenting with assorted other hues.

He and Mrs. Osborne were among the many local anglers who stayed at home Monday when the Massachusetts trout season opened with near-freezing temperatures and most smaller streams flooded. They go up to fish the famous Mirimichi river in New Brunswick every year or two.

So no doubt they'll be interested to know the Mirimichi ice went out this week.

A bulletin from Fredericton, N. B., says it is "practically certain" that angling for spring salmon will begin by the first of the week. Ice is also out of the St. John and Nashwan rivers.

Bob Harris o' Raymonds, got word a day or two ago that ice of his favorite spring vacation hang-out, Damarotta Lake, Me., was breaking up fast and that fishing there would be okay almost any time now.

G. G. Tarbell of Lincoln, fishing on Walden pond this week, reported all the bites he got were frochies. He said it was so cold the lines were freezing in the guides.

Of more than a dozen parties on the pond, not more than one or two claimed any luck sufficient to compensate them for flirting with pneumonia, Tarbell said.

In the mail: Announcement of a Massachusetts Fleet Shooting Ass'n meet Sunday, April 28, at the Minute Man Sportsmen's Club, Lexington. There'll be a 100-target program limited to 20 gauge guns or smaller. Individual and two-man team events will be shot concurrently.
